IN THE BEE TO-DAY

WEATHER.

The local forecast for to-day is fair, slight change in temperature. For Friday, fair, slightly warmer, probably flurries of snow.

Weather Conditions.

The storm reported yesterday as central at Washington, has moved up the New England coast and expanded westward into Canada. As a result our winds will be from west to southwest to-day, and will modify our cold wave. Fair weather prevails throughout the United States except in the lake region, where it is generally snowing. The temperature has risen in Manitoba and the northwest, and a warm wave is closely following the cold one. The temperature has risen from 25 to 35 degrees at the following points in the past 24 hours: Ft. Buford, Miles City, Bismarck, Huron and Cheyenne.

The zero temperature line this morning includes the states of Minnesota, Wisconsin and Iowa. The temperature reached 32 degrees, or freezing, at Jacksonville, Fla., and has likely damaged the orange crop. The highest temperature in the United States to-day is 42 degrees, at Galveston. The lowest is 12 below zero, at St. Vincent, Minn. The highest here yesterday was 27 degrees; the lowest this morning was 6 above at 10 a. m.

WHEAT, CORN AND OATS.

Some Ideas of the Immense Harvest Reaped by the Farmers.

Washington, Jan. 7.—The estimates and territories of area product and value of the principal cereals of the United States for 1891 made by the statistician of the department of agriculture, are given to-day. The crop of corn, wheat, and oats, including all but 2 or 3 per of the cereal aggregate are reported. The total for corn has only been exceeded once. The wheat product is the largest ever known in any country, and the yield per acre in the United States is the largest ever reported by the department of agriculture. The total for oats was slightly exceeded in 1889. The aggregates are as follows: Corn area 78,204,515 acres product 2,060,154,000 bushels, value $836,439,220; wheat, area 20,916,897 acres, 611,780,000 bushels, value $513,472,711; oats, area 25,581,861 acres, product 736,394,000 bushels, value $232,312,267.

The aggregate of all cereals is the largest ever produced, and will supply 54 to 55 bushels per unit of population. The wheat supply is the largest ever reported in proportion to population, averaging 9.4 bushel to each person, against 9.2 for the largest previous crop in 1884 The average value to the farmer is 40.6 cents for corn, 83.95 for wheat and 31.46 cents for oats. The value of wheat is greater than in any year since 1883, that of the crop of 1888 alone excepted. The products are of course in measured bushels.

ROOT AND BRANCH.

Republicans Play Into the Hands of Wall Street.

Foraker, the Man of Gall and Wind,

Turned Down for the Man of Gold.

The Natural Fruits of Republicanism.

Once More the Lesson is Taught That Relief From Monopolistic Tendencies Can Only Come Through the Ascendency of the Democratic Party.

Columbus, Jan. 7.—(Special)—The caucus has decided that John Sherman should succeed himself in the United States senate.

Nobody who has watched the political atmosphere about Columbus for the past few weeks could have expected ony other result.

Foraker has never been in the race from the start, and the longer the contest, and the more his hired weaklings tried to create sentiment for him, the smaller were his chances.

Sherman is king of the republican party in Ohio.

Sherman is the representative of the moneyed men, and what care they that the poor man has no work, or has high taxes to pay.

Labor organizations denounced Sherman as the enemy of the working men.

A large part of the republican party denounced him for his connection and sympathy with Wall street, and declared him unfit to represent the great state of Ohio in the senate of the United States.

Democratic denunciation of Sherman has been placed in the shade by the vituperative onslaught made on him by members of his own party.

All this time Sherman has smiled serenely and whenever a vote was needed he gave the powerful machine another twist and the vote was forthcoming.

Senator John Sherman.

But why this repetition of ancient history. It is but the time-worn practice of the republican party, and anybody who is at all a student of political events in Ohio must have known from the start that Sherman and his methods would succeed.

The Foraker men in the caucus last night made a strong fight for a secret ballot, but lost by a vote of 47 to 44.

Mr. Dougherty called the caucus to order and Speaker Laylin was made chairman.

Nichols' Speech.

Senator Nichols then nominated John Sherman in the following speech:

Mr. Chairman and fellow members of the Seventieth general assembly of the state of Ohio: The wise proverb, "Young men for action and older men for counsel," never deserved, and I anticipate, reading by the shadows of the approaching lights, never received a more complete and absolute demonstration than the results of this joint caucus will indicate in the return to the highest legislative councils of this glorious nation, that man, than whom to the trump of fame, there never yet echoed a nobler name, honest John Sherman.

He is tried and proven by the tests of time, weighed and found not wanting, by the balances of great events. Yielding to no promised popular theories which are doomed to an ephemeral existence, tempted by no visionary whims for mere temporary relief, he capitulates not with demagogues, and surrenders not to dishonesty. True to friend and fair to foe, just to the weak as well as to the strong, he asks only for right, submitting not to wrong. Loyal to the protection of the rights of labor, he would not unjustly disturb the rights of property, since they are ever interdependent.

Believing that when the muscle of toil, or the hand of patriotism to our country in her trying ordeal for perpetuating existence has rendered a dollar's worth of services, that hand should receive as compensation therefor a dollar with a hundred cents' worth of purchasing power.

He believes that as "an honest man is the noblest work of God," so an honest dollar is the noblest work of statesmanship.

It was at least because the people of the great state of Ohio, without regard to race, vocation, or party affiliation, shared with him the belief, that any other kind of a dollar must not even be "chanced" as a bid for votes or outside aid to procure them, that crowned the closing hours of that eventful day of November 3, 1891, with evidence of an overwhelming republican legislature, making this night's work possible and effective. This victory gave to our gallant standard bearer, Major William McKinley, jr., the far-famed, world-renowned champion advocate of protection to America. America's industries, America's homes and America's flag the handsome majority of 21,511, thereby commending generally all the principles of that grandest of all modern political organizations—the republican party.

Sirs, our needs, in these threatening times, and his especial fitness upon this one issue of honest money alone, upon which the people have so recently and emphatically spoken, are sufficient to justify us in his return, and in addition, unanimously tender him a vote of thanks for his willingness to accept and serve us longer.

Well and truly has he earned the proud distinction of the greatest legislative financier of this or any other age, of this or any other land—the business benefactor of this mighty sisterhood of 44 states, known wherever the sun casts his effulgent rays as the fairest picture of what a republican form of government with Christian influences can do for a people, with such men as John Sherman in her councils.

In his expressed preference to suffer defeat with his honor and his integrity vindicated, rather than to glory in victory fraudulently achieved; in his unerring sagacity and unswerving fidelity to the right, we have proof paramount of his natural talents. These, the beneficent gifts of a higher power, have been matured, developed and strengthened by exercise, observation and experience, until he has reached the very zenith of his glory and usefulness, to the 65,000,000 people whose pride to-night he is.

If your patience and the proprieties of the occasion would admit, the records of his wise provisions and useful career might be unfolded, or rather rehearsed to you. But I shall not thus needlessly detain you.

True, the allotted years of man have mostly rolled over his head. But, as was once said, "youth is no crime," so we take it that vigorous age unimpaired is no reflection, especially when it presents a public record of over three decades, which, like a brightly burnished silver sheen, is without a blot to mar its shining lustre.

Long since recognizing the fact that the heaviest drafts on ripening age are those drawn by the indiscretions of earlier years, he began observing that same prudence in his daily habits that have characterized him in the affairs of state. So it is that he now gives every indication, not only by his elastic step, his stately arrow form, his youthful, ruddy glow, but by his remarkable endurance of this memorable, heated contest of zealous politicians, that his gigantic physical and mental powers will be spared him not only for another six years, but long enough to catch the inspiration of the twentieth century's morning sun.

Vote for him, for he's to honor true, to statesmanship tried. Ohio's citizen, this nation's pride.

Vote for him! for in this sublime act, you honor yourselves, better your constituents, serve your state, your country and your God.

I nominate John Sherman.

Griffin's Speech.

Mr. Griffin nominated ex-Gov. Foraker. He alluded to the governor's military service, his return to his home, his graduation at college, his election as a judge in Cincinnati, which he resigned. A few years later he was elected to the office of governor of his great state. He never sought a fight, nor ran from one, always a true republican because he believed in the republican principles and desired them to prevail in the state and nation. "As a statesman he is the equal of that great man to whom all our sympathies go out to-night—James G. Blaine. (Cheers.) If sent to the senate he will be the peer of any man there."

Griffin's effort was weak and heartless, as well it might be, for in fact he was talking to a packed jury.

The seconds were brief but pretty speeches.

The Vote.

The ballot was taken and resulted, Sherman, 53; Foraker, 38, as follows:

For John Sherman—Senators Abbott, Blair, Carpenter (Fayette), Carpenter (Meigs), Eckley, Green, Hildebrand, Iden, Lampson, Nichols, Ohl, Phillips, Rawlings, Snyder, Spencer—Total, 15.

For J. B. Foraker—Senators Clingman, Fox, McConica, Parker, Rorick, Von Segern—Total, 6.

Representatives for Sherman—Allaman, Axline, Blanck, Britain, Camp, Clapp, Clark, Daugherty, Davis, Dodge, Doty, Dunn, Fisher (Kreble), Flickinger, Gallagher, Hale, Harlan, Haskell, Hayaes, Heimline, Holcomb, Kessinger, Laylin, Lutz, McCoy, McElray, Martin, Pudney, Richards, Southard, Sterrett, Taylor (Champaign), Taylor (Guernsey), Taylor (Jefferson), Thomas, Williams (Williams), Willis, Wood—Total, 38.

For Foraker—Adams, Allen, Boxwell, Carney, Rewitt, Eakin, Ely, Ford, Graft, Griffin, Hays, Heller, Hughrey, Jackson, James, Kean, Kelly, Korte, Lillard, Llewellyn, McConnell, McGranahan, McGrew, Porter, Reeve, Strehil, Strock, Tiebbein, Wanger, Williams (Noble), Workman, Wydman—Total, 32.

For Wm. McKinley—Welsh. For Chas. Foster—Dicks. Total on joint ballot—Sherman, 53; Foraker, 38.

On motion of Mr. Dewitt, of Paulding, the nomination of John Sherman was made unanimous.

Senator Sherman and Gov. Foraker were escorted to the caucus hall and the smile that played on the face of the Cincinnati man did not detract attention from the political knife plainly seen sticking in his boot top.

Sherman's Speech.

Senator Sherman spoke to the caucus as follows.

Senators, representatives and fellow citizens: I return to you my most grateful thanks for the very high honor you have conferred upon me. Long trusted by the people of Ohio, I am under obligations that I cannot express in any language at my command.

I owe to you all that could be said with a heart overflowing with feeling, and I therefore will not attempt to express that which fills my heart with respect to you and the people of Ohio.

We have just passed through a contest much the most formidable that I ever encountered in Ohio, and I hope more formidable than I ever will encounter.

I know, gentlemen, that you have been called upon to make a choice that was unpleasant for you because you would have liked to elect us both and would have been glad to elect two senators instead of one. (Applause.)

I am glad to say in this contest I held in my language and heart the highest feelings of respect and honor for the gentleman who was my competitor, and who is now before you.

He is entitled to the love and affection of the people of Ohio, and if you have given me this high honor because of my experience, you have not underrated the high qualities, mental and moral, of Gov. Foraker. (Applause.) We owe mainly our duty to our country, whole country, and nothing but our country.

We owe a minor duty to the state of Ohio, dearest among the states of the union, central in position, grand in its population, and great in its history. We owe also an immense deal to the republican party of the United States, which has strengthened our country in all its parts, which has abolished slavery and conferred greater benefits upon the people of the country than any party ever before in the history of this or any other country.

Though you have been engaged in this friendly contest, we are all republicans, and I trust ever will be republicans, true to our cause and true to the principles we advocate. (Applause). Now, with a heart overflowing with thanks that I cannot express, I again return to you as the senators and representatives of our state, my thanks for this almost unequalled honor." (Loud applause and cheers).

Foraker's Speech.

Mr. Chairman and gentlemen of the caucus and fellow citizens, said ex-Gov. Foraker, I am informed that so far as you are concerned, the senatorial caucus is ended (laughter); and I have come here in response to your invitation to say that so far as I am concerned it is also ended. (Applause and cheers). You did not end as I had hoped you might (Laughter), but you are the duly accredited and authorized representatives of the republicans of Ohio, and your will is law unto me and mine (Prolonged cheers).

As Senator Sherman has said, we have been having something of a contest. (Laughter). For the past 10 days we have been divided into Sherman men and Foraker men, and we have been striving against each other. There has been possibly some grasping and some friction, but at this hour it is the highest duty to remember from now henceforth, in the language of the senator, we are no longer Sherman men or Foraker men, but republicans always. (Great applause).

Let us heed and now put behind us with the contest in which it belongs whatever of unkindliness of feeling, if there be any at all, that may have been engendered. So far as I am concerned, I am glad to be able to say to you, gentlemen of the seventieth general assembly, that I have not an unkind thought toward any one of you no matter has he been friend or foe. (Applause and "Good, good.")

I have no resentments, no bitterness of feeling to carry home with me. On the contrary, I shall go back to the pursuit of my profession with my heart and mind filled with only a grateful recollection, and a pleasurable, and, I trust, pardonable, pride for the gallant, intrepid band who have honored me with their support in this contest. (Applause and cheers).

Without any disposition to criticise or to find fault in the slightest, but only as an excuse in so far that may be necessary for enlisting in a cause that has not been crowned with success, but defeat, let me say to the friends that when we entered upon it I did not foresee some of its features.

I was not aware then, as we have since come to know, that we had to fight not only those republicans of Ohio who were against us, but because it was grand old John Sherman on the other side it was the whole United States against us. (Laughter and applause).

The senator says he does not want any more contests like this. (Laughter). I thank him for the compliment and vouch to you that I do not ever again want to cross swords with him. (Laughter and applause). I shall pick out another fellow the next time. (Renewed laughter). But, gentlemen, I shall detain you no longer. (Loud cries of "Go on, go on.") We are in the presence of another great contest. It so happens that under our form of government we pass only from one campaign into another. That which is now before us is that we are to determine in November next whether we shall continue in Washington a republican administration or whether it shall be a democratic administration. This is no time for me to dwell upon the important consequences of such a campaign, but I allude to it only to admonish you as republicans that, standing as we do in the presence of such responsibility, it is our duty to get shoulder to shoulder, and at once not only prepare to look to the future, but to move forward after the banner of republicanism to a grand triumphant victory which it is our duty and it will be within our power to achieve. (Prolonged cheers).

At the conclusion of the ex-governor's speech the caucus adjourned.

GOVERNOR RUSSELL.

His Address to the Massachusetts Legislature.

The Growth of Executive Boards Condemned—The Evil of the Lobby—General Recommendations.

Boston, Jan. 7.—The annual message of Gov. Russell was presented to the Massachusetts legislature to-day.

The greater part of the message is devoted to a statement of the rapid growth of the system of executive boards, offices and departments by which there is no definite power of control vested in any one.

The governor argues that this system is positively harmful to the state and should be changed so as to give the chief executive power that shall fix upon him the full executive responsibility.

Legislation is recommended to remedy the evils of the lobby and to limit its influence; to extend the municipal powers of cities and towns; to reduce the hours of labor of women and children in factories and workshops; to protect railroad employes against the dangers to which they are exposed.

The governor pays some attention to the penal, reformatory and charitable institutions of the state and makes various recommendations concerning them. He recommends that the state appropriation of $75,000 for the world's fair be increased, as, he says, it is not sufficient to pay for such an exhibit as Massachusetts ought to make at the great exhibition.

BLINDING SNOW STORMS.

London, Jan. 7.—The blinding snow storm which impeded traffic and travel greatly yesterday, continues to-day throughout Ireland, Scotland and the north of England. All outdoor work where the storm prevails has been stopped.

ALLEGED CROOKED WORK.

Lancaster, Pa., Jan. 7.—Baltimore, Md., and Dayton, O., creditors of the bankrupt tobacco firm of Kendig & Co., yesterday issued writs of replevin for $10,000 worth of tobacco in the hands of various persons in this city, who procured it from Kendig & Co. The creditors claim that the failed firm secured the goods by fraudulent representation.

"SILVER" FLINT DYING.

Chicago, Jan. 7.—"Silver Flint, once one of the most noted ball players in the country, is dying at his home, 62 Twenty-fifth street.

He is not expected to live through the day.

SCHAEFER AND SLOSSON.

Chicago, Jan. 7.—Jake Schaefer started east last night and will play practice games with John Moulds previous to his great match with Slosson, which occurs in New York, January 22.

GARZA SURROUNDED.

His Capture Expected at Any Moment.

The Outlaw Has Been Discovered in His Hiding Place and Will Soon be Taken.

San Antonia, Tex., Jan. 7.—According to an official in the government office here, the capture of the Mexican revolutionists is only a question of a few hours. He says that the Mexican has been discovered in his hiding place a short distance from San Diego, and that a big force of men is already on the way to capture him.

LAWRENCE IRVING SHOT.

Was it an Accident or Attempted Suicide?

Great Excitement in London Theatrical Circles.

The Young Man Found Stretched Across His Bed with a Gaping and Bleeding Wound in His Right Breast.

London, Jan. 7.—Telegrams received here from Belfast this morning say that Lawrence Irving, the second son of Henry Irving, the actor, who accidentally or purposely shot himself yesterday afternoon after attending rehearsal of "The Merchant of Venice," by Benson's Shakespeare Touring company, in which play young Irving played the part of Lorenzo is progressing favorably.

The doctors in attendance upon the wounded man held a long consultation this morning and discussed the sufferer's chances of life. At the termination of their deliberations, they announced that there was no immediate danger; but, that the patient must be kept quiet and away from all visitors likely to put irritating questions to him.

The bullet, which is judged to have penetrated the apex of the lung, has been probed for, but up to the present has not been exactly located. It is concluded that the leaden missile is lodged in the muscles of the back.

The charitable opinion formed of the case is that the young actor, who is most ambitious and desirous of succeeding in his profession, has overworked himself and that he is, consequently, suffering from nervous prostration.

Young Lawrence seemed more cheerful than usual after the rehearsal referred to and nobody imagined for a moment that any thing was wrong with him until Mr. Hippisley, a brother actor, heard the report of a revolver in a room of the hotel where they were stopping, occupied by young Irving.

When Hippisley burst open the door, he found him lying, writhing with agony, across the bed, with blood streaming from a wound in his right breast. Young Irving, who has travelled a great deal in Russia, has been in the habit of carrying a revolver and is said by Mr. Benson, the manager of the company in which he holds a position, to have been absent-minded, recently, while engaged in his theatrical studies. Hence it is said that the pistol may have been discharged accidentally.

Much comment is made upon the manner in which Henry Irving, the young man's father, behaved after he heard the news of the shooting.

The veteran actor was playing Cardinal Wolsey, in Henry VII., at the Lyceum theater, when a dispatch containing the sad news was handed to him.

Though deeply affected, Henry Irving maneged to maintain his composure and continued throughout the evening to evoke loud applause by his masterly personation of the prelate fallen from power.

The shooting of young Irving is attracting more attention than it otherwise would have, owing to the popularity of his gifted father.

RUSSIA'S SUFFERING.

Charles Emory Smith Writes to the People of St. Paul.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 7.—A cablegram from Hon. Charles Emory Smith, the American minister to Russia, was received by Gov. Merriam.

It was in reply to a message sent to him on the 28th of December requesting a reliable statement of the suffering in the famine districts of Russia and was as follows:

"The distress in Russia from the short crops is widespread and severe. It is difficult to overdraw the extent of the suffering. Many provinces are destitute, and must be helped until next harvest. I am able to say that the proposed contributions of Minnesota and the northwest indicated in your dispatch will be accepted with most grateful appreciation.

CATHOLIC PROGRESS.

An Important Meeting Being Held in New York.

New York, Jan. 7.—A convention of the Apostolate of the press, composed of delegates of the Catholic laity of both sexes who believe in propagating the Catholic religion by means of the distribution of literature and the support of the religious press, was called under auspices of Paulist Fathers, at Columbus hall, in West Sixtieth street yesterday morning.

Delegates from the Society of Catholic Truth of St. Paul, and the Society of the Holy Ghost of New Orleans were present, together with delegates from Boston, Chicago, Philadelphia and other cities.

DESTROYED BY FIRE.

One Hundred Thousand Dollar Blaze in Canada.

Hamilton, Ont., Jan. 7.—Fire last evening in the Wanser Sewing Machine company's building gutted the building and destroyed all the valuable machinery.

The loss is estimated at $100,000, fully insured. Wanser failed some months ago and since then the premises have not been occupied. Origin of the fire unknown.

WANT SEVEN ARBITRATORS

Bering Sea Affairs Take a New Turn.

England Makes a New Demand Which the United States Will Probably Allow.

Washington, Jan. 7.—In diplomatic circles the opinion prevails that the hitch in the Bering sea negotiations at present is the change in the attitude of the British government regarding the number of arbitrators.

The original proposition, to which the United States assented, was that each country should name a single arbitrator and these two should agree upon a third. The British government now asks that the number be increased to seven, the United States to name two, Great Britain to name two, and these four to choose three more.

Some objection is being raised by Secretary Blaine to the change in the original understanding, but, if the British government insists that there shall be seven arbitrators, the United States, it is thought, will yield.

President Harrison has been willing from the first to submit the questions in dispute to any fair tribunal, and to abide by its decision.

He would be quite willing to leave the matter to the head of some leading European country. He has been anxious from the first to bring the matter to a conclusion.

BOASTFUL POWELL.

London, Jan. 7.—The Chronicle deprecates Sir George Baden-Powell's assurance that England will win. The paper says that such a premature boast is not likely to smooth the way in Washington.

COL. BALLOU.

He Has Arrived in Providence and Denies the Sensational Stories.

Providence, R. I., Jan. 7.—Shortly after noon yesterday Col. Ballou sent for the newspaper men to call at his office and on their responding made a statement to them.

The colonel asserted his disbelief that Dr. Graves made any confession implicating him; denying that he left Denver last Saturday secretly or in a very hurried manner; declaring that his associate counsel knew of his intended departure and expressing his surprise at the verdict.

CONNECTICUT LEGISLATURE.

Hartford, Conn., Jan. 7.—In the house yesterday 30 seats were vacant because of the grip. The republican managers reported a caucus resolution that the house was ready to proceed with the regular business and that it was especially urgent that such matters as the revision of the election laws and an appropriation for the world's fair should be acted upon.

This was passed—112 to 105—after the democrats had tried to table it.

CONSPIRACY TO DEFRAUD.

Chicago Police Make a Big Capture.

Bogus Mortgages on the Money Market.

Bankers Have Been Taken in by Loaning Money on Forged Documents—Four Persons Placed Under Arrest.

Chicago, Jan. 6.—An alleged wide-spreading conspiracy to fleece bankers and brokers by means of forged mortgages on city property owned by non-residents, has been unearthed by the police.

Last night four men were locked up at the central station charged with fleecing W. G. Press, of the banking firm of Press & Co., Nos. 2 and 4 Sherman street, of $7,000 by means of forged instruments of transfer.

Their names are P. W. MacWhorter, a real estate man, who formerly had an office on La Salle street; H. H. Hobart and Charles Albrecht, printer, living at No. 148 Monroe street, and W. W. Henderson.

Inspector Marsh and Detective Broderick have been working on the case for several weeks, and, although not expecting to make any arrests for a week, were forced by circumstances to bring the thing to a focus last night. The police claim to have a clear case against the accused.

ANDERSON'S MANY WIVES

Seven Women Claim Him as a Husband.

A Gloomy Outlook for the Matrimonial Speculator.

In Each Case He Married the Woman, Lived with Her a Short Time, Took All Her Money and Departed.

Cleveland, O., Jan. 7.—The day after Christmas John Anderson, of St. Louis, deserted his wife in this city, after taking $1,200 belonging to the woman. It was on the wedding trp of the couple that this occurred. The bride had formerly been Mrs. Ellen Purcell, of St. Louis. As soon as the news of his arrest, which occurred soon afterward, was made public other wives began to be heard from. So far seven women claiming Anderson for a husband have been heard from. The victims reside in all sections of the country, California, Iowa, Massachusetts, Illinois, New York and Missouri being heard from. He has two wives in Missouri. In each case Anderson got all his victim's money, lived with her for a time and then deserted her. He is now under indictment here for departing with Mrs. Purcell's money. The police are of the opinion that all the returns from his wives are not yet in.

WIND AND COLD.

Some Weather From the Northwest Country.

Fifteen Degrees Below Zero in the Dakotas and Very Chilly in Other Parts of the Country.

Oakland, Fla., Jan. 7.—About 10 o'clock yesterday morning a terrific tornado accompanied by thunder and lightning came from a westerly direction across John's Lake, south of this place and traversed the prairie at the east end of town.

There it struck H. Roper's two story cottage, overturned and instantly killed Mrs. Roper. Three of her children escaped with only slight injuries.

Several other houses were unroofed or blown down and nearly every tree in the path of the tornado was leveled to the ground.

HILL IS NOW A SENATOR.

He Took the Oath of Office This Morning.

Destined to be a Shining Light in the Senate.

Committee Places Saved for Him—Representatives Greet Him as the Next President of the United States.

Washington, Jan. 7.—(Special)—The swearing in of Senator D. B. Hill created as much interest as any event which has taken place in the senate for years.

He arrived at the capitol about 11:30 and from that time until he took the oath of office he held a regular levee in the cloakroom.

Prominent senators and representatives thronged the chamber, the Ohio delegation being there to a man, going over at the suggestion of one member who remarked, "We will go over and see the next president made a senator."

The seats of Senators Hill and Brice adjoin.

So soon as the journal of yesterday had been read, Mr. Hiscock, taking his stand in the center aisle, at the entrance of the chamber, said: Mr. President, David B. Hill, a senator from the state of New York, is present. I suggest that the oath of office be administered to him."

Escorted by Mr. Hiscock, Mr. Hill advanced to the desk and was sworn in.

Mr. Cockrell announced the resignation of himself on the committee on immigration, of McPherson on the committee on territories, of Mr. Blackburn on executive departments, and of Mr. Voorhees on relations with Canada, and asked that Mr. Hill be appointed on those committees in place of these gentlemen. It was so ordered.

Mr. Gorman resigned from the committee on relations with Canada in favor of Mr. Colquitt.

INSTALLATION NIGHT.

Several of Toledo's Societies Induct New Officers Into Their Chairs.

Toledo lodge of Masons held a reception for the members and their families last evening, which was a very pleasing affair. The spacious halls of the Masonic temple were filled with guests, and all seemed to enter into the spirit of the occasion. The installation of officers occurred in connection with the reception. The exercises took place in the asylum, and were conducted by Past Masters William Beatty and C. M. Lang, according to the rules made and provided for such events. These are the new officers: Geo. H. Allen, W. M.; Frank H. Tanner, S. W.; Byron A. Case, J. W.; J. D. Knights, secretary; Henry M. Barfield, treasurer; Geo. H. Newcomb, S. D.; E. L. Twing, J. D; Richard Tapper, tyler; Geo. Marquardt, W. G. Bennett, stewards.

Following the installation dancing was indulged in in the blue lodge room, and an elegant banquet was served during the evening. Tony Leon furnished delightful music for the installation and dancing. The committees in charge of the reception were composed of the following Masons:

Invitation—E. L. Twing, J. D. Knights, A. E. Wilson.

Reception—Past Masters R. C. Lemmon, E. R. Finch, C. M. Lang, John C. Romeis, W. D. Burgess, A. E. Lang, Wm. Beatty, H. M. Barfield, C. T. Lewis, S. S. Walker, H. O. Daniels, Judson Babcock.

Refreshments—Richard Tapper, A. F. Eisenhart, James Skeldon, George Marquardt, Max Rothfus, Thos. R. Shimmer, E. Frederick.

Floor—Byron A. Case, A. C. Bay, Geo. H. Newcomb, Warren J. Baker.

Toledo Council, National Union.

This popular council had a most enjoyable time last evening. A fine program of musical and literary numbers was observed, and with the installation and the dancing which followed, there was nothing left to be desired. Mr. C. O. Brigham talked interestingly on the benefits of the National Union. The officers installed for the ensuing year are as follows: President, A. S. Hannaford; vice president, Joseph Brereton; speaker, E. L. Breed; ex-president, P. T. Germane; secretary, George W. Lipscombe; financial secretary, J. H. Hunter; treasurer, A. H. Thorp; usher, Alex. Young; chaplain, F. C. Roshong; sergeant-at-arms, J. F. Aufderheide; doorkeeper, G. L. Emminger; trustees, George C. Pepper, L. W. Heydrich, M. D., J. G. Burnop; representative, G. L. Emminger; alternate, A. S. Hannaford; delegates to cabinet, G. L. Emminger, J. A. Demuth, F. C. Roshong; organist, P. T. Germane.

Forsyth Post.

Mr. Mat. Bartlett installed the officers of Forsyth post, G. A. R., last evening, and a pleasant evening was enjoyed. The officers have already been printed in the Bee. Commander Charles G. Wittich was presented with a handsome past commander's badge in token of appreciation of his services, the speech being made by Dr. Kitchen. Forsyth post is in a strong and hearty condition, and the new officials anticipate a year of continued prosperity.

William Tell Lodge, K. P.

The semi-annual installation of officers of William Tell lodge, occurred at the Pythian castle last night, with a large company of the members and their friends present. Past Chancellor Henry Hoerlein was installing officer, and was ably assisted by Gus. Krueger and Adolph Orutiger. Some happy talks were made, the division gave a drill, and then several hours were spent in social intercourse.

ENTERTAINMENTS.

Delightful Evening With Miss Paget at the Wheeler's—The Fat Men's Club.

Miss Ffolliott Paget, as the Baroness Vera von Bouraneff, in Augustin Daly's comedy "The Last Word," was considerable of a surprise to the audience and a most agreeable one. Miss Paget is a young English woman of pleasing manner and her acting is of a high quality, deserving of much better patronage than the small house which greeted her last evening.

The part taken by Miss Paget is that of Baroness Vera, a Russian noblewoman who belongs to the legation of that government at Washington. Her accent, representing the broken English of the Russian woman, was very correct, yet most charming and soft. Miss Paget appears to advantage in both the heavy passionate parts of the play as as well as the light and happy.

The play itself is a most delightful high-class comedy, with nothing of the farce, and Miss Paget was supported by an able company.

Fat Men's Club.

John C. Stewart and his company of comedians will hold the boards at Wheeler's to-night and to-morrow in the laughable farce entitled the "Fat Men's Club." The New York Sun speaks of the company as follows:

"Mr. Stewart is an old-time, much-liked and corpulent comedian, and he received his metropolitan initiation in "The Fat Men's Club" last night at the Windsor. All the obese officers and members of "The Club," composing a goodly list of entertainers, were on hand and earnestly performed their special duties with the desired laughable results."

BLAINE'S CONDITION.

He Is Better, but Must Remain Indoors for Some Time.

Washington, Jan. 7.—There were many inquiries at the residence of Secretary Blaine this morning as to the condition of that gentleman. They were all informed that he was better, but the doctor advised him to remain indoors to-day to recover from the weakness naturally consequent from the attack.

A BAD PRACTICE

Which Should Be Brought to a Close at Once.

The recent sad street car accident in which a well-known Toledoan met his death, brings to mind the fact that the men of the city, as a rule, are careless as regards street car etiquette. They pile on the front and back platforms, making the way impassable for ladies and are not over careful in the matter of puffing cigar smoke in their faces as they squeeze on or off. The conductor's feeble "don't crowd the platform, gentlemen," is generally disregarded.

There is one rule that should be put into effect and that is that after a car is comfortably filled no more passengers should be allowed to get on. This is the custom in many American cities and all European ones. If the platforms were kept clear people could get off and on in less time and with less trouble, the conductor would have room to properly run his car, and accidents would not occur.

"Conductors have instructions to keep people off of the platforms," said Manager Lang, of the Consolidated, to a Bee this morning, "but it is almost an impossibility to accomplish this. Of course we have to deal with all kinds of people in a day. Men stand out on the platform, in all kinds of weather, rain or shine, warm or cold. I don't understand it at all. Of course some men are inveterate smokers, and are usually at the most interesting stage of a good cigar when their car comes along. Well, they would rather walk than part with this luxury. The conductor tells him that he is instructed to keep passengers off the platform. They pay no attention to what he says, and what are we going to do? We wouldn't dare to force a man into the car; besides it would be unpleasant on both sides and create a constant disturbance. Of course we are young yet, in the new transit, and as we grow older we hope to facilitate matters and overcome a good many existing difficulties."

A BATCH OF PAROLES.

Two Lucas County Men Are Out.

Nelson Paine and Henry Busdicker Allowed to Go Outside the Prison Wall Once More.

Columbus, O., Jan. 7.—The board of managers paroled sixteen prisoners and many of them are long-term prisoners. The most prominent prisoner released is ex-Auditor A. H. Graham, of Warren county, whose sentence was for eighteen years for embezzlement from Warren county. He was received March 12, 1890. He will go from here to Dayton. Additional paroles were as follows.

Nelson Paine, received from Lucas county, May 17, 1887, on an eight years' sentence for manslaughter; J. B. Stephenson, received from Hocking county, January 2, 1891, on a three years' sentence for shooting to wound; John Polly, received from Tuscarawas county, October 24, 1889, on an eight years' sentence for shooting to kill. Edward H. Maag, who was returned last March for violating his parole, had his lost time restored, the offense charged against him not having been proven. John E. Conner, received from Hamilton county, November 20, 1890, on a two years' sentence for shooting to kill; John Lead, received from Hamilton county, October 19, 1890, on a seven years' sentence for burglary and larceny; Louis Depride, received from Hamilton county, October 19, 1890, on a three years' sentence for cutting to kill; Henry Busdicker, received from Lucas county, April 21, 1888, on a ten years' sentence for manslaughter; Charles M. Lockard, received from Putnam count, October 26, 1887, on a twelve years' sentence for criminal assault; Al Simmons, received from Wood county, December 12, 1889, on a five years' sentence for robbery; Fred Roth, received from Wayne county, March 5, 1889, on a twenty years' sentence fo rmanslaughter; William Offet, received from Lorain county, December 14, 1888, on a fifteen years' sentence for criminal assault; Patrick F. O'Keefe, received from Jefferson county, November 14, 1890, on a six years' sentence for burglary and larceny; Jacob C. Scott, received from Lawrence county, December 1, 1890, on a two years' sentence for grand larceny; Elisha Ray, received from Jackson county, December 10, 1890, on a two years' sentence for burglary and larceny; James Cross, received from Belmont county, March 2, 1891, on an eighteen months' sentence for burglary and larceny; Tinus McDonald, received from Jefferson county, November 18, 1890, on a six years' sentence for burglary and larceny.

The clerk's financial statement shows the earnings for the month to be $24,204.37, expenses 23,918.13, net earnings $283.24, extraordinary expenses $4,270.28.

FOUND HER GUILTY.

Verdict in the W. R. C. Case at Canton.

Mrs Koons Sentenced to be Expelled From the Order—An Appeal Will be Taken.

Canton, O., Jan. 7.—At a meeting of Women's Relief Corps held yesterday afternoon, the result of the trial of Emma F. Koons, past treasurer of the department of Ohio, on charges preferred by Ada F. Clarke, past president and present councillor, was reported. The following resolution was passed:

Whereas, Gross misrepresentations have been made regarding the result of the hearing convened by this court to investigate charges against Emma F. Koons; and

Whereas, By the rules of the Women's Relief Corps, such parts of the corps' proceedings as the corps may by vote direct can be published; therefore be it

Resolved, That a statement of the findings and verdict be given for publication.

Accompanying this is the following statement:

The charge against Emma F. Koons was based upon five specifications. To three of these a finding of guilty is attached and the verdict pronounced is suspension from the Women's Relief Corps and from all rights and privileges of the order for the period of five years.

The above is given out as official. It is also learned from one who was at the meeting that Mrs. Belle Tenney, president of the local corps, to whom the verdict and sentence were submitted, changed the penalty from five years to one, which sentence is in effect from this date. When this was reported to the corps for indorsement, Mrs. Clarke, as prosecutor, filed a motion for appeal to the department president, alleging that the evidence offered at trial was sufficient to sustain charges, and praying the department president to change the sentence to dishonorable discharge.

This motion, it is said, was unanimously adopted, and the case will be appealed. Mrs. Tenney, who has been president the past year of the local corps, made application for a transfer card, which was granted, and her connection with the order ceased. Mrs. Rex, president-elect, who refused to serve unless Mrs. Koons was out of the order, has consented to serve under this sentence and was installed at a joint meeting with the G. A. R. One of the counts sustained in the verdict was that of writing the annoying anonymous letter to Mrs. Clarke. The other two were in regard to unbecoming conduct.

WHO THEY WERE.

The occasion was the funeral af a prominent citizen who had been a Free Mason. A delegation of brother Masons had attended and had just come out of the house and were waiting to enter the carriages assigned to them. They wore part of their regalia, which attracted the attention of the ever-present small boys, to whom funerals are all one with weddings, considered as food for curiosity.

"Say, Jimmy, who are they?" asked one of another, in an audible whisper.

Jimmy glanced at the embroidered sashes. "Why, don't you know what those are, Johnny?" he said, with the contempt of superior knowledge for ignorance.

"No; what are they?"

"Well, you are stupid. Why them's the fellers that know something they won't tell!"

"Oh!" said Johnny, meekly.

Offices in the Bee building are now complete. They contain all improvements and are the finest in the city.

THE WAR IS STILL ON.

Sherman and Foraker Factions Fighting.

Hamilton County to be Wiped Off the Map.

Every Evidence That Interesting Times Are to Follow—The Program for Inauguration Next Week.

Columbus, Jan. 7.—(Special)—The feeling over the result of the caucus last night is very bitter, and this morning when Wydman, of Hamilton county, made an attempt to present his bill authorizing the board of control to elect a clerk, Taylor, of Champaign, jumped to his feet and objected, saying all bills from that county would bear careful consideration from the hands of the legislature.

This remark caused Wydman, Boxwell and others who were friends of Foraker to remark that if that was the way the opponents of Foraker desired to carry on the fight they could have all they wanted.

The speaker finally called the members to order and all moved along smoothly until nearly noon, when Wydman again tried some tactics. This time he was successful, as the democrats helped him out.

Mr. Sterrett, of Miami, introduced a bill providing that all village boards of health shall have not less than two physician members of same.

Representative Welsh introduced a bill providing that children in the country, residing more than a mile and a half from a public school, be permitted to attend that school which is nearest, even if it is not in the district in which the children reside.

The bill provides that, if the tax in the district where they attend school is less than in the district where they live, their share of it shall go to the former district.

The senate only passed two local bills and Mr. McConica introduced a small ripper for Cincinnati, creating the board of sinking fund trustees by legislating out of office the present board, after which an adjournment was made until Monday morning.

Following is the legislative program for the inauguration of Governor-elect McKinley as adopted:

1. That judges of supreme court, state officers, state officers-elect, mayor and city council, president and officers of board of trade of Columbus, clergy and members of press, United States troops, stationed at Columbus, all military and civil organizations and political clubs, citizens that may be present in capital that day, are hereby invited to attend the inauguration of the governor-elect on Monday, January 11, 1892, at 12 o'clock m.

2. Judges of supreme court, state officers and state officers elect, except the governor and governor-elect, clergy and members of press, mayor and members of city council of Columbus be and are hereby invited to meet with the general assembly in the senate chamber at 7:30 o'clock, and from there proceed to the place of inauguration in the rotunda of the state house, in following order.

Judges of supreme court, state officers and state officers elect, clergy, president and president pro tem. of the senate, speaker and speaker pro tem. of the house of representatives, general assembly, mayor and city council and members of press.

3. A joint committee will meet the governor and governor-elect at 11:40 a. m., and will accompany them to the place of inauguration in the following order:

First carriage—Governor and governor-elect, chairman and secretary of joint committee, Hon. J. W. Nichols, Hon. D. D. Taylor.

Second carriage—Hon. A. L. Harris, Hon. W. V. Marquis, Hon. J. C. Rorick and Hon. D. M. Chase.

Third carriage—Hon. J. F. McGrew, Hon. R. K. Willis, Hon. C. N. Gaumer and Hon. D. C. Cunningham.

The program of the inauguration ceremonies will be as follows: Prayer by Rev. H. W. Bennett. Oath of office administered to Hon. Wm. McKinley, jr., governor-elect, by chief justice of supreme court. Inaugural address.

At close of ceremonies governor and those accompanying him will re-enter carriages and proceed to reviewing stand, from which parade will be reviewed by the governor.

The parade will be in charge of Gen. A. H. Axline and will move in order to be announced by him.

After the parade the state officers-elect will proceed to their respective offices, where the oath of office will be administered to them by judges of supreme court.

The senators will repair to the senate chamber where the oath of office will be administered to the lieutenant governor-elect and members of the house of representatives will proceed to hall of house of representatives.

CLAIMS HE'S CHARLEY ROSS

A Man With a Strange Story in Columbus.

He Probably Wants Cheap Transportation to His Home in the East.

Columbus, O., Jan. 7.—A man, claiming to be the lost Charley Ross, called at Superintendent of Police Murphey's office yesterday morning. The visitor was about five feet, eight or ten inches high, dark complexion, dark brown hair neatly cut, dark mustache and a beard of several days' growth, black eyes, 25 years old, and clothing much the worse for wear.

He wanted to talk to the chief and was very reluctant to talk to newspaper men, but constant questioning drew forth his story. He wanted police protection, which was assured him by the superintendent. Briefly, he added:

"I am the identical Charley Ross, stolen from Philadelphia so many years ago. The first thing I remember was when I was about 4 years of age, and I was then standing at the corner of South Union and Stevens streets, Nashville, Tenn., with E. P. Walpole and wife, whom I was ever taught to believe were my father and mother. They live at 84 Stevens street.

"Between that time and when I was about 16 I gravitated between Walpoles' and a Mrs. Faley's, who was said to be my aunt.

"I worked at Houghton's narness store, but not liking it learned the tinners' trade. I first learned that I was Charley Ross when about 12 years old. A song had been written on the abduction, and one evening a number were singing it, when one of the men turned to me and said: "I don't suppose you know that you are Charley Ross, do you?"

THE WIRE TAPPERS.

Several of the Interested Parties Have Been Arrested.

Advices received by the Bee from Denver state that Frank Perry, one of the men implicated in defrauding the pool room of Austin & Co., by means of bogus returns of results of races at Guttenburg, has been arrested. He attempted to leave town and took his arrest very cooly. Only a few dollars were found on him at the time of his arrest. He would not admit that he was guilty and would say nothing as to his partner, Rogers. The latter has not been found and is supposed to have left town.

The two men who worked the Toledo board are reported to have been arrested in Chicago.

SPEAKER CRISP.

Washington, Jan. 7.—Speaker Crisp had a restful night and is reported to be much better to-day. He is still confined to his room.

LOCAL HAPPENINGS.

To-morrow is St. Andrew Jackson's Day.

Skating is being enjoyed by young and old just now.

Prayer service to-night at the churches will be "For Our Youth."

The Ys meet at the First Congregational church to-morrow afternoon at 4 o'clock.

The county commissioners will sell $25,000 worth of stone road bonds to-morrow at noon.

The divorce case of William R. Saulsbury against Addie B. Saulsbury is on hearing to-day in common pleas court.

Dr. James Coldham was still alive when the Bee went to press, but he is sinking fast, and there does not seem to be any hope for his recovery, which will be generally regretted by Toledoans.

Among the congratulations sent Senator Sherman was the following from Gen. J. S. Kountz, one of his faithful followers in Toledo: "Accept my hearty congratulations; same to Donaldson and Hahn.

Dr. L. W. Heydrich was the lucky ticket-holder who won the beautiful etching given by Mr. J. H. Schaefer at the close of his auction sale of paintings, etc., on Oak street. Of course, the doctor feels happy.

One of the finest special trains that ever passed through Toledo pulled out of Union depot at 3 o'clock this morning bearing the delegates from this and other cities to the second annual convention of the Internation League of Press Clubs, to be held in San Francisco January 14.

CURRENT TOPICS.

The best book of the year is the subject of a series of papers by several representative writers in the January North American Review. Sir Edwin Arnold was most impressed by a story by Zola and writes a guarded eulogy of the author. Gale Hamilton considers that the Maybrick Case has quite dwarfed all other literature, and in a spirited review of the trial she defends the prisoner and heaps indignation on the judge and jury with all her wonted eloquence. Miss Repplier considers Oscar Wilde's "Intentions" the greatest book of the year. Mrs. Barr laments the decline of Tolstoi and gives her verdict for the "Life and Letters of the Rev. Adam Sedgwick" and "God in His World." Julien Gordon reviews Herbert Spencer's "Justice," protesting against his opposition to woman suffrage. Dr. Hammond grows enthusiastic over the "Century Dictionary," and Dr. Briggs, reviewing the "Origin and Religious Contents of the Psalter, in the Light of the Old Testament Criticism and the History of Religion," by Canon Cheyne, writes interestingly of the age and origin of the Psalms.

At the third annual dinner of the institution of electrical engineers, Prof. William Crookes, in proposing the toast of the evening, "Electricity in Relation to Science," said that they had happily outgrown the preposterous notion that research in any department of science was mere waste of time. The facts of electrolysis were by no means either completely detected or co-ordinated. They pointed to the great probability that electricity was atomic; that an electrical atom was as definite a quantity as a chemical atom.

It had been computed that in a single cubic foot of the ether which filled all space there were locked up 10,000 foot tons of energy which had hitherto escaped notice. To unlock this boundless store and subdue it to the service of man was a task which awaited the electrician of the future. The latest researches gave well-founded hopes that this vast storehouse of power was not hopelessly inaccessible.

Up to the present time they had been acquainted with only a very narrow range of ethereal vibrations, but the researches of Lodge in England and Hertz in Germany gave an almost infinite range of ethereal vibrations or electrical rays from wave-lengths of thousands of miles down to a few feet. Here was unfolded a new and astonishing universe—one which it was hard to conceive should be powerless to transmit and impart intelligence. Prof. Nikola Tesla had lighted a room by producing in it such a condition that an illuminating appliance might be placed anywhere and lighted without being electrically connected with anything. He suspended two sheets of metal, each connected with one of the terminals of the coil.

If an exhausted tube was carried anywhere between these sheets and placed anywhere, it remained always luminous. The extent to which this method of illumination might be practically available experiment alone could decide. From Tesla's researches it appeared that a true flame could now be produced without chemical aid. The slower vibrations to which he (the speaker) had referred revealed the bewildering possibility of telegraphy without wires, posts, cables or any of our present costly appliances. It was vain to attempt to picture the marvels of the future. Progress, as Dean Swift observed, might be too fast for endurance. Sufficient for this generation were the wonders thereof.—Pall Mall Gazette.

The acquisition made by the pope of the archives of the Borghese family for 250,000 francs is of historic importance. The codices of the Vatican archives date from the time of Sixtus IV., or very little earlier, for the library of Boniface VIII. was destroyed by fire, and the collections made by the popes at Avignon was lost. It is precisely this missing period which is now filled by 400 codices containing the history of the papacy during the Avignon period that has been found in the Borghese archives. It will be arranged in the Vatican library by Father Cozza, who has lately gained distinction by his publication of the Vatican Bible of the fourth century. Among the curiosities in the Borghese archives is a letter in the Chinese character, inclosed in a cover addressed to Paul V.

The inevitable is going on in England. The great landed estates of the nobility are being sacrificed one after another. The extravagance or improvidence of their owners compels a sale and ancestral acres are thrown upon the market for purchasers. Two ancient estates are about being broken up. The marquis of Ailesbury has obtained legal permission to dispose of all his ancestral estates—of the glades where the oak is a century old, and the house which has been in his family ever since it was built. The duke of Marlborough, too, has obtained leave to sell one portion of his estate to gain the means of developing the rest. The sale of the great estates does not mean in every case that they fall immediately into the hands of the common people, for they may be purchased by men of wealth and kept intact for a time longer. It is the first step to their disintegration, however, for when the new owners die there is pretty sure to come a division, since the laws which have kept estates in one family for generations cease to operate when once they are alienated. The movement towards enabling farmers to obtain holdings in fee simple is another wedge in the change of English institutions by which her extensive cultivated estates will eventually be divided among the common people.

Some interesting information as to the elements that are going to make up the future citizens of the new Brazilian republic—interesting in the way of comparison with our own stock—is afforded by the immigration returns of the port of Rio Janiero. In the first eight months of this year 115,160 immigrants arrived at Rio. Of these 58,478 were Italians, 22,036 Portuguese, 12,806 Spaniards, 10,948 Russians, 2,157 Austrians, 2,351 Germans, 2,789 English, 1,702 Swedes, 900 French, 334 Belgians, 264 Poles, 139 Swiss, 30 Americans, 17 Dutch and 1,100 Asiatics. It might be inferred from the very great difference in the proportion of the nationalities compared with our own immigration that the resulting general type will be widely different from the United States American.

A machine has been invented, which, if it fulfills the expectation of the patentee and those who have seen it in operation, will prove very valuable. It is 42 feet long, 15 wide and 8 high, and weighs 45 tons. Its object is to do away with the use of buzz saws in cutting logs and lumber; it cuts the wood as one might cut a slice of cheese or butter with a sharp knife, thus avoiding the waste of lumber, which is considerable under the present methods. The boards are said to drop from the knife as smooth as if they had been subjected to sandpaper. The machine will cut a board of 1-32 of an inch in thickness or a big log. The knife is three feet long and weighs 500 pounds. It works with a draw motion—a combination of knife and saw.

Although the method of secret voting known as the Australian system was introduced into the United States only five years ago, it has now been adopted in 33 states of the union. An explanation of the statutes of each of these and their experience with the use of the secret ballot, as well as of the grouping of candidates and of the method of voting the ballot in each state, is explained in an interesting review of this whole movement by Mr. Joseph B. Bishop in the January number of The Forum. The rapidity with which this system has been adopted in every part of the union is without a parallel in the history of reform movements in the United States. Almost every state of importance, except some of the southern states, now has a secret ballot law on it statute books, and some of them have it in their constitutions. It is a singular fact that the southern states have been the hindmost instead of the foremost in this movement, because the secret ballot would undoubtedly in practice disfranchise a large part of the ignorant voters in the south.

Mr. Bishop says: It is a fact of incalculable importance that the approaching presidential election will be decided for the first time in the history of the country by a secret ballot. 33 states now having adopted it. All the states in which money has heretofore been used most freely for corrupt purposes in such elections will vote in November under the new system. There can be no intimidation of voters in Massachusetts, Rhode Island or Ohio; no "blocks of five" can be marched to the polls in Indiana; and whatever "soap" may be used in Maine, New Hampshire, New York or West Virginia will have to be distributed in blind faith that the recipients will keep their bad bargain and vote as they are bribed.

It follows that in this campaign the professional corruptionists will be less in demand as the chairmen of campaign committees than heretofore, because they will be less useful.

OH, WE'RE COMING, GIRLS,

Here's Another Batch of Bachelors

Who Are Willing to be Gathered in During This Year of Our Lord 189'. Make Your Selection, Ladies.

There is an unusual activity in the city; the hotel corridors are crowded with women, millinery shops, hair dressing establishments and dealers in frizzes, rouge, bloom of youth, blush of roses, perfumery and the like have been rushed to death.

The Bachelors' Directory did it.

Girls from Norwalk, Tiffin, Dayton, Findlay, and other places have been flooding the town in hopes of picking up a stray man.

The eyes of the fair sex are centered on Toledo. Womandom did not know that any locality held such an array of desirable gallants until the Bee showed them up in all their glory.

Shy gentlemen are afraid to go out after dark for fear of being sandbagged and carried off by aged spinsters, made desperate by several refusals.

Some of the confirmed bachelors have united in a protective association and never go out except in bunches of five or six and then they advance slowly and disappear at the rustle of a skirt. However this class is in the minority.

There are plenty who flop right over as soon as the question is popped.

It is amusing to note how some of the bachelors take a proposal. A few look silly, fumble in their pockets, suck their fingers and at last softly blurt out "yes" as they faint away with a sweet smile of contentment on their faces, while others who do not wish to seem overwilling, pout, turn their faces away, murmur:

"So sudden—let me gather myself—how foolish I act—my tender heart is fluttering so—what will mamma think of it—are you sure you don't only think you love me—well-um-er-y-y-y-yes," followed by the usual sounds of a horse pulling his foot out of the mud.

Those already taken up thank the Bee for its help in the matter and the fair wooers are also grateful. Another batch of happiness is appended. Ladies are requested not to crowd the sidewalks in front of the Bee office in hopes of getting the first copies. Don't get excited; take your time or you may scare the game.

Albert C. Stewart; a model young man.

T. W. Wheeler; a style that never grows old.

Allie Wade; great architect, engaged in carving out a brilliant future.

"Noon" Caughling; has enough fun about him to keep six girls busy.

Glen McGaw; a regular Jim dandy, don't let him escape at any cost.

W. E. Purcell; why will you be so careless as to leave him lying around.

Frank Stevens; popular young druggist, awfully shy, but good as gold.

Ed Depenthal; could be taken hands down, and you'll never regret the step.

Nate Kaufmann; most popular man on the road; talks well; excellent catch.

Mert Martin; camera fiend will not only take but will take your picture.

Dr. J. T. Woods; a veteran, but a ladies' man; should be wiped out soon.

P. E. Dombaugh; going to be stout; would look well at the head of a table.

G. H. Cole; sound in tooth and limb, takes no dust on the matrimonial road.

M. G. Blotch; should no longer be a blotch on the page of unmarried men.

Frank W. Garn; can sing a song or two, lead a Sunday school or a german.

P. G. Turner; "a Y. M. C. A. young man," as Gilbert and Sullivan say in Patience.

Frank Stager; smooth face, portly, resembles the Two Johns, jolly and good-natured.

Walter Brown; the son of the postmaster, consequently a good sticker and with the stamps.

George Ross; been a long time in the matrionial grab bag; this prize should be drawn.

Gordon Robertson, real sweet, been in the ring some time, but has lost none of his charm.

John Dresser; which means that his wife will be a good dresser, in name and otherwise.

M. C. Fogarty; a lum-te-tum sweller, gay boy; traps have been laid for him several times.

George M. Doner; bashful councilman but approachable, and would develop into quite a gallant.

C. T. A. Meek; always pegging away at something or other; sure to strike it rich some day.

Steve Bolles; a little dejected after Foraker's defeat, wants the consolation the fair sex can give.

Chas. W. Lorenz; sweet smells, good article to have in the parlor; sort of a human scent bag.

Ignaatz Herskovits; artistic, pleasing address, an eye for the beautiful, wedded to his art, though.

Tom Law; just plain Tom, but a wife could have her silver marked Thomas, which isn't so bad.

Dr. John Scheib; knows how to hold a hand under the pretence of feeling for the pulse, fine goods.

John R. Miller; busy with paving contracts, but a fine gentleman; would make an imposing husband.

Lute Raymer; the lady who can play on the affections of this lute will make the sweetest harmony.

Frank E. Wright; if you'd be boss when e'er you wed, be sure you're Wright then go ahead.

Fred Cranston; "out of sight, sir, every night, sir, in society circles he roams;" quotation from Stackhouse.

Hayward Brown; formerly of Tiffin, but looking around for a Toledo girl; wants to get up calling route.

Harry Tiedtke; chuck full of music, but never full of anything else, consequently a reliable husband.

F. E. Cole; old King Cole was a merry old soul and this one inherits all his ancestor's good qualities.

Dr. Frank Cook; a handy man to have around; special rates to relatives; would pay a family to club in and get him.

Karl Flickinger; young attorney with good prospects; an enthusiastic K. P. of the uniform rank; has no political aspirations or other bad habits; must be seen soon or it will be too late.

TO THE LADIES.

In submitting your sealed proposals to the bachelors it is but fair that you should name some of the conditions of the contract.

Name Kensington as your future home as one of the conditions. This will please you as well as your future husband.

N. B.---To the bachelors: Our reduced rates are still in force.

Wheat Quotations for the Day—Price Current for Produce and Other Articles

The Daily Round Up.

San Francisco "Commercial Herald" of December 31: Review for the week ending Wednesday, December 30, 1891.—We have to note moderate arrivals of wheat and moderate clearances. The past week has been a little more active in wheat circles than the week preceding. The local market has remained stronger than might have been expected, principally on account of the decline of the freight market, which went down to £1 2s 6d. There was no business doing two days of the week; the holiday of course preventing any business being done. Futures fluctuated in sympathy with spot.

Buyer 1891, which was practically spot, sold at $1 81 3-8@1 81 5-8 on Thursday. On Tuesday there was a slight drop, sales being at $1 80, while on yesterday there was an improvement, 100 tons selling at $1 80 3-8.

Buyer season opened at $1.88@1.88 3-4, dropping to $1.85 7-8 on Tuesday, closing at $1.86 5-8@1.86 7-8 yesterday.

Receipts during the week were fair—317,093 centals of wheat and 34,508 1-4 bbls. of flour. Receipts for December will reach 2,000,000 centals of wheat and 160,000 bbls. of flour, equal to close on 2,500,000 centals. This is amongst the heaviest in the months of trade. Considerable of it has arrived from northern ports—from Oregon and Washington. The export movement has been moderate—268,676 centals wheat and 21,445 bbls. flour.

Arrivals at wheat ports, flour and wheat being reckoned together, from July 1 to December 24, 1891, compare as follows with those for the same period in 1890:

	Centals.
1891-2	11,659,459
1890-1	8,601,866

California Wheat Fleet Going Into Lumber Trade.

As predicted some time since, the wheat charter market has declined to £1 2s 6d iron U. K. orders. This is low enough in all conscience. The charters reported during the week were only three, as there is no special inducement to load wheat at these rates. In about a month 13 vessels that came here to load wheat have been transferred to the lumber business—several have been ordered away from the port, and now the Routenburn will be ordered to Tacoma, while the Sterlingshire and the Ditton, from Rio, have been ordered to other ports. So has the Inverurie from Santos, as well as the Drommond from Coquimbo. This should relieve the market somewhat, especially as the list of disengaged in port has been cut down during the week.

Exports of Wheat.

It has been said, by a writer usually deemed reliable, that the exports of wheat and flour in the fall months of this year have never been equalled. As respects the aggregate of exports, the statement is true, but it is not true as to all the months since July, as the following table will show:

	1891.	1880.	1870.
July	13,695,899	31,961,905	14,432,494
Aug	26,277,682	24,149,772	24,927,982
Sept	25,797,080	16,636,248	27,973,678
Oct	10,610,046	18,882,396	23,212,817
Nov	20,101,989	15,392,876	13,330,477
Dec	16,416,498	13,812,781	11,147,824

Stock of Contract Lard in Chicago.

Stock of Short Ribs Sides in Chicago.

The following table exhibits the stock of short rib sides in Chicago on the first of January in the years named:

1892.	1891.	1890.	1889.
lbs.	lbs.	lbs.	lbs.
54402367	55095772	26579336	13692871

London wheat firmer; corn turn dearer. Weather frosty. Liverpool wheat firm and 1-2 pence higher. Corn less demand, shade lower.

The receipts of wheat at seven principal western points to-day are 471,775 bu, compared with 242,049 bu on the same day last year.

California wheat movement.—The receipts at San Francisco in the week ending December 30 equaled 528,490 bu of wheat and 54,508 bbls of flour. The exports equaled 447,490 bushels of wheat and 21,445 bbls of flour. The receipts for December equal 3,330,000 bu of wheat and 160,000 bbls of flour.

New Grades of Oats.

The Illinois board of railroad and warehouse commissioners has made the following new grades of oats, to take effect on February 1:

No. 1 white clipped shall be white, sound, reasonably free from other grain, and shall weigh not less than 36 lbs to the measured bushel.

No. 2 white clipped oats shall be seven-eighths white, sweet, reasonably clean, reasonably free from other grain, and shall weigh not less than 34 lbs to the measured bushel.

The receipts of wheat continue to decrease, and are to-day only 229,726 bu. in excess of the corresponding Thursday in 1891.

The export clearances of wheat yesterday at four Atlantic ports were 281,836 bu. and flour to an aggregate—without Philadelphia—of 520,000 bu. The exports of corn were 346,585 bu. and of oats 48,483 bu.

English markets as reported herein opened with better tone and decrease on wheat. Easier on corn.

The government report of the production of grain, as telegraphed to-day, is as follows:

Wheat—Acreage, 39,916,897; production, 611,780,000 bu.; value, $513,473,000.

Corn—Acreage, 76,204,515; production, 2,260,154,000 bu; value, $836,439,228.

Oats—Acreage, 25,581,861; production, 733,394,000 bu; value, $232,312,267.

London Stocks.

Beerbohm cables London stocks as follows: Wheat 4,400,000 bu, flour 440,000 bbls. Equal flour and wheat 6,380,000 bu. This stock is not large, and is not an evidence of the large accumulation so much written about. The Liverpool stock printed herein January 2, shows no accumulation of consequence, taking flour and wheat together.

The Markets To-Day.

The unexpected and the unwelcome have again put in an appearance to-day and the friends of wheat are in mourning. Yesterday the closing markets were of the rosy hue, and it was widely believed that to-day would be much more abundant in advancing prices. But, alas for human hopes and human judgment that we cannot learn to expect the unexpected. At the opening New York led off with a decline of 3-4c and which was followed later with an additional 1c on the May future. Chicago did not decline quite so radically. It is not clear to the naked eye that there is any cause for this break except the slaughter of the innocents by the heavy short sellers, as English continental markets close rather better than the opening.

Corn has been somewhat lower during the day, supposibly in sympathy with wheat.

Liverpool is reported closing 1-4 to 1-2 up.

The stock market opened with marked activity this morning, especially in Rock Island. Atchison, New England and some of low priced shares, but the tone was weak and first prices were generally slightly lower, while whisky trust was 1 per cent. higher. Rock Island and New England each 3-4, and Louisville 5-8. The depression noticeable at the opening was short lived, however, and the upward movement soon set in. Chicago gas was particularly prominent in the dealings. Rock Island and Atchison followed closely and the whole list participated to a more or less extent. Sugar trust advanced 1 1-2 per cent. At 11 o'clock the improvement ranged from 1-8 to 1 1-2 per cent. In the hour to noon the market showed no falling off in activity and the upward movement made further progress. At noon the best figures of the morning were recorded. The advance ranged from 1-8 to 2 1-2 per cent. at that hour.

At this writing the market is less active with prices slightly lower.

BASE BALL IN THE WEST.

They Are Trying to Form a Strong Circuit.

Toledo Not Represented at the Meeting.

A Plan to Unite the Western, Eastern and National Under One Strong Protective Agreement.

Chicago, Jan. 7.—There is certainly a most flattering outlook in base ball affairs for the west next season.

A talk with the delegates at the Wellington hotel convention to-day was enough to show that.

At least six western cities are pledged to the organization of a strong western league. These are Kansas City, Columbus, Omaha, Milwaukee, Minneapolis and St. Paul.

The delegates from Kansas City have been the most active in the work. L. C. Krauthoff and John W. Spear are the chief movers in the scheme. The new league is to be formed of the towns named above and the remaining two are to be selected from Detroit, Toledo, Grand Rapids and Indianapolis.

Among the old Western association men present at the meeting which began this afternoon are Krauthoff and Spears of Kansas City; Joseph Garneu, of Omaha; Cushman and Ivison, of Milwaukee; Sam Morton and Bennett, of St. Paul; Henry Hatch, of Minneapolis, and Dave Rowe, formerly of Denver. Gus Schmeltz represents the interests of Columbus.

The object of this meeting is to decide upon a circuit for the new league which, according to the latest advice is to be named the Western League, instead of the Central League as has been understood. Mr. Krauthoff's idea is to have the Eastern, Western and the National leagues all under one compact of the national agreement and the indications are that he will succeed.

The delegates with James P. Hart in attendance entered into a preliminary discussion of affairs about 1 o'clock this afternoon.

WILD EXCITEMENT

On the London Stock Exchange.

Rumors of War in Morocco Cause a Big Sensation—Paris Bourses Show Sympathy.

London, Jan. 7.—The stock exchange to-day is in a state of wild excitement owing to a very war-like rumor. This report as spread, is to the effect that the British war vessels at Tangiers have landed a force of blue jackets and mariners at that place.

It is added that the French admiral there has given the British admiral notice that France gives England 24 hours in which to re-embark her landing party, and that if this is not done, at the expiration of that time, the French fleet will attack the British warships.

It is supposed that this startling report is simply a canard circulated by bourse circulators; but the excitement prevaling shows how dangerous the situation in Morocco is believed to be.

London, Jan. 7.—1 p. m.—The tone of the stock exchange is greatly depressed in sympathy with the Berlin bourse; the illiness of the khedive and the reported Tangier incident.

Paris, Jan. 7.—The bourse is weak owing to the news from Tangier.

London, Jan. 7.—The board of trade returns for December show an increase in imports of 3,830,000 pounds and a decrease in exports of 1,540,000 pounds as compared with those of the corresponding month of 1890.

TAKEN SUDDENLY ILL.

Jack Kelsey, receiving teller at the county treasurer's office, was taken suddenly ill about noon to-day. He was in the teller's box receiving taxes when all at once he began to chill and was unable to stand up. A carriage was called and he was sent home. The doctor reported him resting some easier this afternoon.

It was formerly considered injurious to take fluids with the meals, owing to the fact that the juice of the stomach was thereby diluted and the digestion of the food retarded. A noted Russian physician has conducted extensive experiments to determine the effect of taking fluids with the food, and gives as the results of his researches that "on the whole the widely spread custom of taking fluids during or just before one's meals, proves to be rational and fully justified on strictly scientific grounds. To take fluids with the meals is almost as important an adjunct to digestion as the mastication of solid food preparatory to swallowing it."

Of course the quantity of fluid to be taken depends on the feelings of each individual.

Now eat crow over on the corner.

Ripper legislation has commenced in earnest in the Ohio legislature and a complete job will be made before spring.

They—the disappointed ones—now say if Griffin had been the candidate for speaker Foraker would have been elected. Well, he was a candidate until Foraker knocked him on the head.

Oughtn't a crown to be made for our republican president when he mounts his throne and takes his scepter and begins to tax his people as seemeth good to his royal will?

This evening is the great blow-out of the Boston Merchants' association. Mr. Blaine will not be there, but will send a letter to be read. All ears will be open; Blaine is a master hand at writing letters.

How about the cartoon representing John Sherman tossing up his barrel with dollars jingling around. Did it signify realistic performance with republican members of the general assembly?

The Toronto Empire finds comfort for its open winter, even with the influenza it brought, in the fact that the frigidity of their climate will not be advertised abroad by descriptions of ice palaces. Time enough yet, neighbor.

The legislature of Mississippi assembled this week for the first time under its radically new constitution. Other commonwealths of the South will watch the progress made under the change of laws with great interest.

Waldorf, Austin and Brown are feeling very comfortable to-day. As office holders they performed their machine duty regardless of civil service requirements. John Sherman winked and they blinked. Their master was well served.

Representative Flickinger "is in the swim," and Toledoans who want good service rendered expeditiously and in order will please address their servant at Columbus, care House of Representatives. Griffin is a back number and Heller is lost in Griffin's pocket.

There is no trouble in discovering baccilli, great and small. A son of Prof. Koch, the Berlin bacteriologist has discovered the germ of the grippe. Where now is the scientist who will devise means for destroying these germs that seem destined by infinite multiplications to possess and destroy mankind.

A few days ago the high-tax organs were commending Germany for doing honor to the McKinley law by copying some of its measures in their own legislature. Wages are going down in Germany as in this country, in various highly protected industries. Will the organs please notice again the similarity of situations and explain as to causes of such results?

The administration must have a war on the docket to summon to the front if the political situation seems to demand it. When the Chile war cloud lifts, then there comes a hitch in the Bering sea settlement, and jingoism is not suffered to die out. Blaine prefers Bering sea, for ostensible reasons, while Harrison desires Chilean demonstrations for reasons as well understood.

The grip is no respecter of persons. Belgium's great author, Emile Laveleye, died suddenly from an attack of the malady. M. Renan is down with it, Randolph Rodgers, the sculptor, is seriously ill, and M. De Maupassant, the brilliant novelist, is in a state of insanity from the same cause. But it in no wise alleviates the aches and pains of the unknown-to-fame sufferer to know that the disease is thus "distinguished."

Mr. Foraker has made five campaigns for himself in Ohio—four times before the people, and just now inside of his own party. Twice the people defeated him for governor and now his party has repudiated him. In the senatorial contest which ended last night Mr. Foraker was opposed by every republican paper in the United States, outside of Ohio. That shows republican opinion of his leadership. He should have known better than to have made a campaign against John Sherman.

Col. Ingersoll, preached a Christmas sermon which was printed in sundry newspapers. The tone of it stirred the righteous anger of Rev. J. W. Buckley, of the Christian Advocate, who, in turn is called down by Rev. Thomas Dixon, prominent Baptist clergyman of New York, in this wise:

I believe in a free platform and a free press. All truth that cannot stand the ordeal of the electric searchlight of this age is not truth. If Colonel Ingersoll can demolish my creed, I shall thank him for it. If he can destroy it, I cannot depend on it when worlds crumble in the wrecks of time. * * *

Dr. Buckley takes Colonel Ingersoll too seriously. The colonel it not a scientist, he is an orator. He is not a historian, but a poet. Facts do not impede the flight of imagination. He is a superb demagogue. He is intensely human. And he has his uses. And those uses I firmly believe are divine uses. He has stabbed to the heart hundreds of superstitions and lies that have been no part of vital Christianity, and yet have posed as divine truth.

In one sense I have grown to believe he is the mouthpiece of God. I am sure that with all his recklessness of statement and all his stupid ignorance of history he has done much to rid the world of the superstitions, lies, shams, humbugs, traditions and pretenses that used to pass current as orthodox truth.

If God could choose Balaam's ass to speak a divine message I do not see why He could not utilize the colonel.

A change comes o'er the spirit of their dreams. Days ago, according to administration journals, Great Britain was to blame for prospective war with Chile. Yesterday so faithful an organ as the Boston Journal said:

Minister Montt has apparently succeeded in persuading his bellicose countrymen that the United States is not to be insulted with impunity. His warnings, and those of the English residents in Chile, who have lately awakened to the serious crisis which their meddlesomeness has evoked, have produced a great change in the attitude of the Chilean government.

What about Minister Egan's meddlesomeness? The president says in his message: "The treatment of our minister for a time was such as to call for a decided protest." Why was our minister thus treated? Harper's Weekly of recent date says:

It is openly alleged and believed that Balmaceda's revolution was attempted in the interest of a nitrate speculation, and that Mr. Egan was appointed Minister to Chile because he would be a good agent in commercial transactions. * * There is no doubt that the selection as minister of this country to Chile of a newly naturalized citizen of such a notorious career as Mr. Egan's was very extraordinary. * * There is no doubt also that Mr. Egan was in close relations with Balmaceda, and that our government was deceived as to the actual situation in Chile. Neither is there any doubt that the successful party in the war were peculiarly ill disposed toward Mr. Egan, much more so, indeed, than against any other foreign minister. There seems to be little doubt also that he is now engaged in some active correspondence with the present Chilean government, apparently not of a friendly character.

Quay, Dudley and Clarkson the strong trio in machine politics, will chum together in Minneapolis. They have hotel options already, and are laying wires. All this means anti-Harrison. If Blaine declines then Alger is to be their man. The president has been salaaming to this trio, but they scorn his overtures. Even the appointment of Judge Woods fails to win the expert hoosier. An unsavory political mess, at the best. And these are the men to whom candidates in the erstwhile great "moral" party must look for favors. How are the mighty fallen.

THEIR LAST SENATOR.

Machine politics has won a notorious victory in the re-election of Senator Sherman. It is assumed that he is elected, though the formal vote will not be taken until next Monday. The caucus vote of his party last night will hardly be changed in the regular election.

Machinism has run riot in Ohio two months. The power of the national administration itself has been invoked in the display of machine methods. The powerful influence of the government made many votes for John Sherman which otherwise he would not have received. At no other time in the history of American politics was the office holding citizenship so marshalled for a political object as in this remarkable canvass just closed upon the defeat of ex-Governor Foraker. Never before was Mr. Sherman's control of the office-holding contingent so notoriously demonstrated. Never before did Ohio witness just such a following of pap-suckers as danced to the piping of Sherman's whistle. Never before in this or any other state did the national administration so disgrace itself as in this memorable contest.

The sympathy of democrats was naturally with Sherman as against Foraker. The situation was aptly expressed by a business democrat of Toledo when he said "I am for anybody for anything against that man Foraker." Very generally democrats so feel. No other man with pretensions to decent methods of politics stoops so low in speaking of political opponents as does Mr. Foraker. He prides himself upon his meanness, and so democrats naturally despise the man of skin-cane notoriety. Any other republican of prominence in Ohio would have enlisted democratic sympathy against Sherman.

The machine has won its last victory in Ohio. Neither John Sherman nor any other republican will again be elected United States senator from Ohio. It is morally certain that a democratic president will be elected this year. The politics of the country will adjust itself to a new order of things, and the republican machine will be forever smashed. Four years hence Senator Brice will be re-elected. Long before John Sherman's next term expires the state will be reliably democratic and another democrat will be sent to the United States senate to help begin the Twentieth Century upon lines of good democratic politics. John Sherman will be the last of his party race. There will be no more like him. He is as good as his party; in many respects he is better than his party, but the state will not much longer want either him or his party.

Machinism won. Doubtful methods won. The office holders won. Bad politics won. The victory is a mill stone of ultimate defeat. Its rankness is offensive. It is republican.

A CRACKED ORGAN.

The defeat of Foraker demonstrated the rattleheadedness of the Toledo Blade and the Cincinnati Commercial Gazette. That veteran republican editor, W. D. Bickham, of the Dayton Journal, characterized the Blade's course as an attack of the simples. He was right. A stupid braying ass would have run a campaign upon more tenable ground than did the verdant who seemed to guide the organ to utter and humiliating defeat. There may have been good reason for supporting Foraker, but there was no good reason for calling Sherman and his friends horse thieves and rascals and boodlers, except the charges be founded upon truth which must return to plague both the accused and the accusers. It was a losing race for Mr. Foraker which an astute newspaper man should have known weeks ago. None but deceivers would have suppressed news in the interest of deception, and even shrewd manipulators of deceit would hardly have dared fool their readers day after day, and week after week, knowing that the day would come when truth would flash upon readers and lay bare the misrepresentations. There was not even method in the Blade's madness and nothing but swashbuckling balderdash in the staff correspondent's alleged news. As a whole our neighbor's conduct was a very bad display of hatred that didn't injure the object of the attack. As a prophet the organ was without honor at home or abroad. It was a losing race from start to finish.

The Herald's Good Wishes.

That Griffin and Heller's signatures will not be potent as indorsers for Washington pap, especially in the treasury department.

That one of the biggest farces of the season was enjoyed at the police board meeting last night, and another act is yet to follow.

That it is a noticeable fact that President W. I. Squire did not put in any time at Columbus working for the lost Foraker cause.

That while Postmaster Brown did not spend many hours in Columbus, the work of his master political hand was observable during the campaign.

That the controversy now going on in ladies' auxiliary, W. R. C. circles, is not conducive to the best interests of the organization, and should come to an end speedily.

That it will soon be known whether Mr. Griffin is to run the Toledo asylum. If he does, it is not likely that Mr. Hughes, of Findlay, will have any interest in the management.

That Col. Joe Bonner stands before the mirror each evening admiring himself, while "dressed in his latest suit of clothes." But it is next Tuesday when the climax will be reached.

ROUTINE BUSINESS

Attended to by the Police Board Last Night—Reports of Officers.

At the meeting of the police board last night all members were present except Mr. Kruse, and only a small amount of business was disposed of beside the O'Dwyer case, which is detailed elsewhere.

Health Officer Fisher presented his report for the month of December, and also for the year 1891. This showed that the city is in a very good sanitary condition, and the force under the health officer is accomplishing a great work. A large number of nuisances were abated during the year and the city is in a very healthy condition with a low death rate. The work done by the health officer, his force and the district physicians has been of high credit to the department.

The December report and annual report of the chief of police was also read and filed. The showing made in this report is such as should make Toledo citizens proud of their chief, the police force, and the good order and freedom from crime maintained in the city. The amount of serious crime during the year was small, and in nearly every important case the offenders were captured and punished. During the year 5,072 arrests were made against 4,266 arrests in 1890. Nearly 400 suspicious persons were arrested, and in almost every case it proved that the best interests of the community were served by the arrests.

Charges were preferred by Patrick Bolan against Patrolman Charles Buchele. Bolan alleges that on Christmas night while he was entering Druid hall Buchele assaulted him without cause and beat him on the head several times with his club, afterwards taking him to the station and charging him with disturbance and resisting officer, from which charges he was honorably discharged by the court.

The charges against Patrolman Charles Herman, which were made at the last meeting, were dismissed without a hearing, as the offenses charged are alleged to have taken place in December, 1890, and the board considered the matter too old.

A DOUGHNUT CONTEST.

Last evening at the residence of William Aldelberger, 319 St. Clair street, a pleasant social gathering was held for Miss Pearl Walleck, who is soon to leave the city. An elegant supper was served, followed by music, recitations and games. Messrs. Garn and Pudget and Miss Bond were heard with pleasure. One of the games consisted of hanging doughnuts from the ceiling by ribbons. The guests were tied so that they could not use their hands, and at the word commenced to eat the doughnuts. Prizes were given to the most rapid eaters. Mr. Garn took first place as a remarkable consumer of doughnuts, and Miss Kesler, who wasn't in it, captured the booby prize. It was a most enjoyable occasion.

MASSACHUSETTS LEGISLATURE.

Boston, Jan. 7.—The legislative sessions at the state house were opened with the usual formalities. Alfred S. Pinkerton, of Worcester, was elected president of the senate; John G. B. Adams, sergeant-at-arms; Henry D. Coolidge, clerk; Rev. Edmund Dowse, chaplain.

W. E. Bassett was re-elected speaker of the house; Edward A. McLaughlin, clerk; Rev. Daniel W. Waldron, chaplain. The house and senate adjourned until to-morrow.

HEART DISEASE.

Liverpool, Jan. 7.—The coroner's jury which has been investigating the sudden death of Mr. Frederick Leyland, the well-known ship owner of this city, who died suddenly on Jan. 5, has rendered a verdict to the effect that Mr. Leyland died of heart disease.

ABOUT PEOPLE.

Senator Kyle is a regularly ordained preacher and for three years he filled a Congregational pulpit.

Mrs. Henry M. Stanley has a peculiar fad. Her hobby is parasols, of which she has a truly marvelous collection.

It is highly probable that Lord Wolseley will succeed Lord Stanley of Preston as governor-general of Canada.

A portrait bust of Ralph Waldo Emerson by Daniel C. French is to be placed in the new public library at Boston.

Gov. Hill is believed to have saved $30,675 out of the $70,000 he has received for performing the functions of his office, and this is all he has in the world.

Everywhere they reverence the name and character of George Washington. At Monterey, Mexico, a couple of Americans keeping a saloon put up a picture of George Washington as a sign. Whereupon Gen. Reyes, governor of Nuevo Leon, has ordered the likeness removed, saying Washington was too good and too great to have his picture used as a beer sign.

SAM TANNER

Speaks in His Own Behalf Before the Board.

A Decision Will Not be Made in the Case Before Next Monday Night.

The board of revision continued its investigation of the charges against Deputy Police Clerk Tanner yesterday afternoon.

Harry J. Howard, reporter on the Commercial, was sworn and told of an interview he had had with Mr. Tanner Tuesday afternoon just after the board of revision had met. In this interview Tanner said that it was customary in cases where no record was made for the clerk to keep the money. But when questioned he said that he did not know of any other such case.

Joseph R. W. Cooper, reporter on the Blade, told of the same interview which had been held jointly by the two reporters with Mr. Tanner. The latter had said that he had the money and where no record was made of it the money belonged to the clerk. When Mr. Cooper had asked him why he did not turn the money over to the clerk he said he did not have to.

This concluded the testimony against Mr. Tanner and that gentleman took the stand to make a statement in his own behalf. He told of the morning when Firman had brought Mahoney in and Rogers had paid $3.20, the costs in the case.

"I took the money and placed it in the money drawer," said Mr. Tanner, "but later in the day I took it out and placed it in my own private drawer, intending to speak to Mr. Fogarty about it and let him dispose of the money as he saw fit. There was no record of the case and I did not know what to do with it. I did not call Mr. Fogarty's attention to it for the reason that I forgot it, and the money is still in my drawer, where I put it on that day.

"Mr. Fogarty never spoke to me of this matter, and my attention was first called to it by the reporters. I did not intend to keep the money for my own use."

Mr. Read then cross-examined Mr. Tanner very closely, but brought out only a few additional facts. Mr. Tanner stated that he only knew of three cases where a settlement had been made and no record put on the books, since he had been in office. Mr. Tanner held that no legal arrest had been made in this case, as the prisoner had been brought in without warrant, and had not been entered on the blotter.

Mr. Read then wanted to know what the 3.20 costs were for.

Mr. Tanner said that he took the usual costs of arrest because the prosecutor had told him the case was settled for the costs. He gave no satisfactory answer to the question, "What are these costs for?"

John J. Berney, secretary of the police board testified that Henry Firman had special police powers.

This concluded the evidence in the case, and Messrs. Merrill and Home made a plea for their client, reciting his good character and long residence in the city.

They claimed that no legal arrest had been made in this case, and that the money does not belong to the city or state, but should never have been paid and now belongs to the man that paid it.

The board then took the matter under consideration and will report to the council Monday night.

CLUBS AND SOCIETIES.

Rev. W. D. P. Bliss to Lecture for the T. S. E. I.—Other Mention.

The advisory committee of the Toledo Society of Economic Inquiry met at the residence of Rev. Dr. Bacon, president of the society, yesterday afternoon, to arrange for the January meeting. Inasmuch as Rev. W. D. P. Bliss, Christian socialist and editor of "The Dawn," will be in Toledo this month, it was decided to ask him to lecture under the auspices of the society. Monday evening, January 18, is selected for the night, and the lecture will be in Memorial Hall annex. Mr. Bliss' subject will be announced later on, but it will be some phase of the economic question. As the meeting will be free to the public, and as Mr. Bliss is one of the ablest defenders of the necessity of change in our present industrial and economic conditions he should be greeted with a large audience. The Boston Globe says:

Rev. W. D. P. Bliss, who has gone on a tour of missionary work among the rich, thinks that they are even more in need of the gospel than the poor. This idea is as old as Christianity.

It is likely those who hear Mr. Bliss speak will find something new in his application of "this idea as old as Christianity." Mr. Bliss lectures in Cincinnati all of next week. He will preach in Toledo on Sunday, the 17th inst., at Trinity in the morning, and at Grace church in the evening.

To-Morrow's Meetings.

The quarterly meeting of the Central branch of King's Daughters will be held in the First Congregational church to-morrow afternoon, beginning at 2:30. Reports of officers and committees, and address by Rev. D. M. Fisk.

The monthly meeting of the Ys will be held in the parlor of the same church to-morrow afternoon, at 4 o'clock. Subject for discussion: "The Kindergarten."

The Colloquial club meets to-morrow afternoon in the Law kindergarten rooms, Central Congregational church, entrance on Adams street. All women are invited to attend. Essay by Mrs. S. J. Foley. Subject: "Heroism in Women."

The New Century club meets to-morrow evening, with Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Macomber, 1517 Monroe street. Discussion upon Gov. Ashley's essay, "The Impending Political Epoch," led by Gov. Ashley.

The Union of Unions is in session in the Washington Street Congregational church this afternoon. The experience of the Kedy "reformed" drinker is the feature of the meeting.

The program prepared for the meeting of the Catholic club in the Whitney & Currier rooms this evening is so inviting that a large attendance is assured.

SETTLED UP WITH INTEREST.

Ed. Spear Has Squared Himself With the Toledo Banks.

It will be remembered that Ed. Spear, who operated a bucket shop, in the Law building, became involved in a series of complications with several banks, where by he obtained $3,000 by skillfully manipulating checks.

Spear went to California and engaged in the same old business and fortune it seems has smiled on him. Some time ago each of the banks, the Merchants National Ketcham National and First National received $700 in cash and a note for $300, each. Quite recently the notes, and interest were paid, and Spear has redeemed himself in Toledo, so far as money can go.

HE CHARGES EXTORTION.

A Peculiar Case Filed in Common Pleas.

In common pleas court to-day Addison W. Lee brought suit against Carrie W. Lawrence to recover a judgment of $11,000.

The plaintiff alleges that he became acquainted with the defendant September 11, 1889, and that she was unmarried and known as Carrie Ward; then from May, 1890, by false representation, she extorted the amount claimed, from him from time to time, by convincing him that he was the father of her child, unborn.

RELATIONSHIP TOO MUCH MIXED.

William Harman committed suicide at Titusville, Pa., recently because he became convinced that he was his own grandfather. Here is the singular letter he left: "I married a widow who had a grown-up daughter. My father visited our house very often, fell in love with my step daughter and married her. So my father became my son-in-law and my stepdaughter my mother, because she was my father's wife. Soon afterward my wife had a son. He was my father's brother-in-law and my uncle, for he was the brother of my stepmother. My father's wife—that is, my stepdaughter—had also a son. He was, of course my brother and in the meantime my grandchild, for he was the son of my daughter. My wife was my grandmother, because she was my mother's mother. I was my wife's husband and grandchild at the same time. And, as the husband of a person's grandmother is his grandfather, I was my own grandfather."—New York Recorder.

MONTHLY SUFFRAGE MEETING.

A Good Suffrage Badge—Matron Stebbins Holds the Fort.

The January meeting of the Toledo Suffrage society yesterday afternoon was presided over by Mrs. A. B. Cole, in the absence of President Segur.

Mrs. Mary J. Barker, secretary, read an interesting letter which President Segur had received from Mrs. M. V. Longley, of South Passadena, Cal., relative to the advance of the suffrage work on the coast. Mrs. Longley stated that the California suffragists had discarded the yellow ribbon badge, as not sufficiently significant, and adopted a small flag as a badge, which had, in place of the 44 stars, one star, representing Wyoming, where equal suffrage prevails, "the only state which can truly claim to be a government 'by the people.'"

Mrs. Cole read the circular issued relative to the National Suffrage convention which opens in Washington, January 17. Ohio will have nine delegates in the convention, of whom two are from Toledo, Mrs. A. E. Lang and Mrs. C. Q. Murphy.

Mrs. Murphy reported that the school suffrage petitions are being numerously signed, and that the state suffrage president, Mrs. Everhard, desired all petitions to be sent in to her not later than January 25.

Mrs. Sarah J. Williams read her monthly report on the progress of the suffrage movement in the United States, and gave special emphasis to the indorsement of suffrage for women by the American Federation of Labor and other labor organizations.

The Police Matron Business.

Mrs. A. P. Stevens read the monthly report on the police matron. Its substance was that Mayor Emmick had visited the matron at the station with committees from the suffrage and W. C. T. U. associations, and in their presence had told the matron it was her work to look up and look after all women brought into the station, whether for the cells or for the detention room, and she must do it. The mayor had also promised the committees that the detention room should be partitioned off into two, one for each sex, and that the inner room (for women) should have a door into the matron's room, and no other door.

A member of the W. C. T. U., who has visited the station since the mayor's visit and within the past week was present at the suffrage meeting, and on request reported how things are going there. It seems the matron refused to admit these ladies (there are two of them) until assured they were not sent by the suffrage association. She told the ladies she wasn't going to have "any more suffrage women nosing around her business." She also said that when the partition was put in (which it is not yet) she wasn't going to have any door into "her" room, no matter who said she was, and she wasn't going "to get out of bed at night when women were run in for anybody."

The suffrage society received these reports, and appointed their committee to visit the station this month, just the same. The committee is: Miss Cannie Mott, Mrs. John J. Barker, Mrs. Louise Eck.

BADLY INJURED.

Horsemen Ride Rough Shod Through a Party of Church Goers.

Wapakoneta, Jan. 7.—(Special)—While a party of people were returning home from church on the pike near Kossuth, this county, about 9 o'clock at night, they were overtaken by three young men, mounted on horses, who tore through the crowd, never giving a word of warning or slackening their speed.

Several of the party were knocked down and trampled upon by the horses.

William Truesdal, one of the party, received a broken leg and severe internal injuries. He cannot recover. Several of the others were severely bruised.

WORK FOR THE COURTS.

Large List of Indictments Found at Wapak.

Wapakoneta, Jan. 7.—(Special)—The grand jury which was in session here three days, found the following indictments: Thos. C. Blaine, horse stealing; J. T. Simpson, burglary; Henry Reichelderfer, Moses Edmiston, maliciously destroying shade trees; Emma Smith, fornication; George Fleming, petit larceny; George Bibeo, adultery; James Dague, petit larceny; J. B. Hoover, forgery; Hiram Baker, Thomas Doty, Peter Tabler (wheat thieves), three indictments each for grand larceny. There are six more indictments but the parties are not yet arrested.

DUBOIS AND CLAGGETT.

The Contest for a Seat in the Senate to Commence To-Morrow.

Washington, Jan. 7.—The contest between Messrs. Dubois and Claggett for the senatorship from Idaho will come up to-morrow before the senate committee on privileges and elections, which will consider in a preliminary way the mode of procedure. The first formal meeting of the beginning of the inquiry will be held Tuesday next.

PRINTERS' DEMANDS.

Berlin, Jan. 7.—At four meetings of the striking printers, attended, on the whole, by about 11,000 men, it was resolved to demand greater support from the socialist party. Some of the independent socialist leaders have promised to acquiesce to this demand.

CHOICE HOLIDAY PAPERS.

Among the handsome holiday numbers, many of which have been noticed by the Bee, is the Delaware Gazette—16 pages of splendid reading matter, fine illustrations and first-class advertisements. It is a credit to the publishers and the city.

The Bucyrus Telegraph sent out a large and well-edited edition, showing ability, good taste and enterprise.

Going away from home, the Bee has, also, on its list for commendation, the holiday number of the London (Can.) Free Press. Its engravings show the handsome business blocks, churches and residences of the city, and the accompanying history is interesting. It is bright and newsy withal and is put in tasteful blue and gold covers. Our neighbor deserves its abundant success.

The World's Summing Up.

In making up the account of Mr. Harrison's year, then, we should say that he has gained a good deal of reputation for intellectual ability and—apart from the possible effect of Mr. Blaine's restored health—in his chance of a nomination for re-election; that he has lost much of the estimation in which he was held for high official character by the Elkins and Woods appointments; that he has won notably in his effort to attach the machine politicians to his service, and that he has lost not a little in the esteem of those voters who are not under the control of a blind party spirit.—New York World.

NOTICE.

Gustav Benson, of Chicago, Illinois, is hereby notified, that on the 4th day of November, 1891, Thomas Hamilton, as plaintiff, filed against said Gustav Benson, et al., as defendants, in the court of common pleas of Lucas county, Ohio, his petition, alleging there is due to said plaintiff, Thomas Hamilton, on the note and mortgage, fully set forth in said petition, executed by Hamlin H. Napier to Albert E. Lawrence, and by said Lawrence assigned to plaintiff, the sum of twenty-eight hundred and twenty-three ($2,823) dollars, with interest at seven per cent. from November 4th, 1891; which said indebtedness, in virtue of said mortgage, is a lien upon the following described lands, viz:

The west three-fourths (3-4) of the west one-half (1-2) of the southwest quarter (1-4) of section number three (3); also the south three-fourths (3-4) of the east one-half (1-2) of the southeast quarter (1-4) of section number four (4) and the northeast quarter (1-4) of the northeast quarter (1-4) of section number nine (9) all in town number ten (10) south, range number five (5) east, containing one hundred and sixty (160) acres, more or less, and situate in Spencer township, of Lucas county, Ohio; that whatever interest in said lands the said Gustav Benson has, is inferior and subject to said mortgage. Said petition prays that the land may be ordered sold for the payment of the amount due the plaintiff in the premises. Said defendant is required to file his answer to the said petition, which is still pending, on or before the 26th day of February, 1892.

LEGAL NOTICE.

Michael J. Enright and James H. Craig, residing in the city of Chicago, state of Illinois, and Mary Margaret Enright, residing in the city of Grand Forks, county of Grand Forks, state of North Dakota, will take notice that Amelia A. Enright on the 28th day of November, 1891, filed her petition in the court of common pleas of Lucas county, Ohio, against the said defendants, Michael J. Enright, Mary Margaret Enright, Charles J. Kirschner and Charles A. Wilson, the object and prayer of which petition was to set aside a deed from the said Amelia A. Enright conveying lots 156 and 157, Swayne Place, in the city of Toledo, Lucas county, Ohio, through a trustee to the said M. J. Enright, in trust, on the ground that the said deed was made through wrongful acts of coercion on the part of the said M. J. Enright; to set aside a deed of the same property from the said M. J. Enright to the said Mary Margaret Enright in trust for the children of plaintiff and said M. J. Enright on the ground that the said deed was made for the fraudulent purpose of preventing plaintiff from recovering the title to the said property; also to recover a judgment for alimony against the said defendant, M. J. Enright, for failure to support said plaintiff and the custody of her youngest child Helen.

That on the 9th day of December, 1891, a supplemental petition was filed in the said action making the said James H. Craig a party defendant, setting forth that since the commencement of this suit the said James H. Craig filed for record in the recorder's office of Lucas county, Ohio, a deed from the said M. J. Enright conveying to him all the real estate described in the petition excepting the said lots 156 and 157, Swayne Place. That the said deed was made without consideration and for the purpose of defeating plaintiff's said claim for alimony, and asking that said deed be set aside. The said defendants will take notice that an order of injunction was granted by said court on the 30th day of November, 1891, in this action restraining the said M. J. Enright from in any manner disposing of any of his real estate in Lucas county and described in petition, and the said Chas. J. Kirschner and Charles A. Wilson from paying over to the said M

SLIPPING AWAY.

They are slipping away—these sweet, swift years,
Like a leaf on the current cast;
With never a break in the rapid flow,
We watch them as one by one they go
Into the beautiful past.

As silent and swift as the weaver's thread,
Or an arrow's flying gleam;
As soft as the langurous breezes bid
That lift the willow's long golden lid,
And ripple the glassy stream.

As light as the breath of the thistle-down,
As fond as a lover's dream,
As pure as the flush in the sea shell's throat,
As sweet as the wood-bird's wooing note,
So tender and sweet they seem.

One after another we see them pass
Down the dim-lighted stair,
We hear the sound of their steady tread
In the steps of the centuries long since dead,
As beautiful and as fair.

There are only a few years left to love;
Shall we waste them in idle strife?
Shall we trample under our ruthless feet
Those beautiful blossoms, rare and sweet,
By the dusty ways of life?

There are only a few swift years—ah! let
No envious taunts be heard;
Make life's fair pattern of rare design,
And fill up the measure with love's sweet wine,
But never an angry word.

The British Iron Trade association has issued a report giving considerable statistical information relating to the iron and steel industries of Great Britain. A statement of the gross annual value of the profits of the iron trade, as shown by the assessments on the income tax, is given for 1874 and 1890, the figures for the former year being $35,000,000, and in the latter year, $8,000,000.

Steel is destined to play a far greater part in the world's economy than it now does. A Janesville (Wis.) man has invented and patented a telegraphic pole that linemen say settles the question of utility satisfactorily. The poles are constructed of steel strips an inch wide and one-eighth of an inch thick. These serve as corners of a triangular cage 14 inches on a side and from 40 to 60 feet high. The strips are laced together with No. 10 wire, and the pole 60 feet high weighs 300 pounds.

The manufacturer of a certain brand of pills in England—we will call them Smith's pills—has advertised them extensively as really worth a guinea a box on account of their efficacy. Recently a chemist received a bill for 28 shillings from the pillmaker, which he did not feel like paying. At last a brilliant idea struck him, and he sent the creditor a box of his own pills and 7 shillings in cash, with the explanation that, the pills being worth a guinea, the debt was canceled. To his utter surprise he received by return mail a receipt in full, with the words, "Cash only in future, John Smith."

BOOKS AND MAGAZINES.

A Wealth of Good Reading to Begin the New Year.

The Jo-Boat Boys—Hoosier Stories—Book of Song—Splendid Showing in the Periodicals—Literary News Notes.

The new year's literature for young people is enriched by a story from the pen of Rev. J. F. Cowan, editor of the M. P. publications at Pittsburg, Pa. Mr. Cowan's short stories written for his own and numerous other periodicals are extensively copied and the "Jo-Boat Boys," the new book in question has all the racy description, crisp dialogue and real boy life in it that characterizes his shorter tales and sketches. And all these teach excellent lessons without preaching them.

The "Jo-Boat" is the name for the shanty boats which lie along the banks of the Ohio and other rivers, and serve as habitations for those employed thereon and thereabouts. And among these Mr. Cowan finds the boys who develop into heroes worth writing about. The description of the "shanty boat" will be of interest:

"Maybe you never happened to see a house from the back window of which you could go fishing, or where the bucket had only to be dropped down from the porch and water handed up to wash or scrub with, and where the front yard never needed sweeping, and no expense was necessary for a cellar wall or yard-palings or gate-hinges. * * * The bottom of the boat was just a small flat or scow, on top of which had been built a flat-roofed shanty. There was one room with a porch, "stem" and "stern." Into this six-by-nine room the Muldooney family of five crowded—when it happened that they were all in at one time. Do you wonder where they put beds for so many people? A shelf fastened to the wall by hinges so that it could be dropped down by day and swung out at night, where it was propped with a stick, made a bed. All you need is as many of these shelves as there are persons to sleep on them and the sleeping question is settled. Where did they find room for a table and other furniture? Why, that's simple enough. People don't often eat and sleep at the same time, do they? Then what better dining table do you want than the lower shelf which has just done service as a bed? With a soap box or two for chairs the furniture is about complete."

Then there are descriptions of more aristocratic habitation boats; the floating photograph gallery and the dime boarding and lodging house. Eventually "Tim" goes west to seek his fortunes, and his adventures are full of zest and naturalness. The story is wholesome, heartsome and bright with incident from first to last and the Bee can heartily commend it to its young readers. Thomas Y. Crowell & Co., N. Y., publishers. $1.50.

Grant Allen writes novels which have good plots well handled. "The Duchess of Powysland," issued in Tucker's paper covered library, is an example. Mr. Grant Allen can delineate so many varieties of men, and do it so well, it is a pity he does not know a little bit about women. But he does not. Linda Figgins, later "The Duchess," is as impossible as one of Charles Reade's women. Again, Mr. Grant Allen allows his prejudice against "emancipated" women, as he calls them, to ride rough-shod over facts when he says, anent the death of Mrs. Venables:

"The higher education of women, that fashionable Moloch and Juggernaut of our time, slays its annual holocaust so regularly nowadays that no one is astonished when one more Girton girl, unequal to her self-imposed task of defying with impunity all the laws of nature, breaks down and dies in her first futile attempt to fulfill the natural functions of womanhood."

Statistics show that college-bred girls make healthy women, but adhesion to facts is not necessary in a fiction writer. The story is interesting notwithstanding Mr. Grant Allen is wrong on this point.

"The Song Chief" is the name of the new music book for singing classes and assemblies, by W. A. Ogden and A. F. Myers, published by the W. W. Whitney Company, Toledo. It is said to be the best systematized book yet published, but few pages containing all necessary instruction for pupils. It contains choice solos, duets, trios, quartets and choruses; new, bright and "warranted to wear." Song Chief is published in popular octavo form and contains 176 pages, and the type is large and clear. Price $7.50 per dozen in board covers, single copy 75 cents; sample copy, 50 cents.

Thais, by Anatole France, is translated by A. D. Hall and published by the Nile C. Smith company, Chicago. It is a weird tale of the days of earliest Christianity in the Lotus region of the Nile, and suggests in its picturesque imagery of the east and the heroism of its characters in the cause of Christ, Moore's Epicurean, and like volumes which have preceded it, ranking with the best of them. In paper covers, Vol. 1, No. 1, of the Lakeside series, $6 a year, issued monthly.

Magazines.

The Century for January maintains the promises with which the present volume began. Two papers specially worthy of reading upon a present day problem are "The Jews in New York" and "The Jewish Question." Dr. Mitchell's "Characteristics" is an admirable study, and "The Naulahka" grows in interest, though one of its young authors will write no more. The musical paper this month is upon "Gounod in Italy and Germany," and a fine protrait of that composer is the frontispiece of the magazine. A profusely illustrated paper on "Custar's Last Battle," and other good reading is given. "Bentley's System," a complete story is excellent. The poetry is above the late average in magazines, as the names Aldrich and Frank Dempster Sherman guarantee.

A paper of the month that will attract attention is by Geo. Y. Wisner, in the Engineering Magazine, entitled "Worthless Government Engineering." The writer is an experienced civil engineer and writes understandingly. Other valuable papers are, "The World's Store of Tin," by E. W. Claypool; "American Supremacy in Mechanics," by Coleman Sellers; "Art and Engineering," as applied to water supply and to sewage disposal, by Lester Allen and George W. Rafter; "Altruistic Effects of Electric Power," by Frederic A. C. Perrine; "Type-Setting Machinery," by Walter E. Crane, and "The Newer Forms of Fuel," by Hosea Paul. The departments are well up to the standard.

Current Literature for the month is so brimful of good things one cannot particularize without a column of space vouchsafed one. The combination of the monthly magazine and Short Stories (for 85) covers the field of contemporaneous literature in a manner scarcely possible otherwise for the same outlay. Stories from all languages are translated and the new year will see some out-of-print classics revived.

The Arena for January might be called a hopeful number. The opening article, by Alfred Russell Wallace, on Human Progress, is full of faith and good prophecy for humanity; the Divorce Movement by James Realf, jr., is in the same elevated strain. E. P. Powell writes of a World-Wide Republic, and the Editorial paper, on The Dawning Day, is the most sanguine and hopeful of all. Mohammedan Marriage and Life, by Prof. Jannaris, who, being a native, writes of what he has seen and what he knows, rather destroys the poetry that has been woven veil-like about the harem and reveals the hideousness of it. What is Buddhism? by Charles Schroder, is a timely paper, because of the deep interest that students of the modern world are evincing in the old and before-Christ religions of the East. D. G. Watts writes, appreciatively, of Walt Whitman, and makes a partially successful attempt to balance the gross sensuality of his so-called poetry by the really beautiful thoughts that struggle out of the slough at intervals. His selections are the best that could be made. A powerful story of the modern west, entitled A Spoil of Office, is by Hamlin Garland. There are other excellent articles and the number is an exceptionally strong one.

The face of Bishop Phillips Brooks has been reproduced a great many times within the last few months; it is a good face and will bear it. The New England Magazine for January opens with a fine portrait of him accompanied by an appreciative sketch written by Julius H. Ward, handsomely illustrated. The Master of Raven's-Woe, by Arthur L. Salmon, is a strong and graceful bit of poetry, as is also, Purification, by George Edgar Montgomery. Mice in Eavesdropping is a droll and readable sketch. The story of the City of St. Louis is well written by Prof. P. M. Woodward and amply illustrated. John W. Chadwick indites some praiseworthy lines to George William Curtis; the old oaken bucket, with illustrations furnishes artistic pages and a pleasing sketch of the life of the author, Samuel Woodworth, is written by Geo. W. Young. The Yellow Wall Paper is a bright story by Charlotte Perkins Stetson, who has been writing some clever verse recently. "In a Corner at Dodsley's," by Walter Blackburn Harte, is a new departure department which is unique, crisp and readable. The number is a good one throughout.

The January St. Nicholas begins with a charming frontispiece described by a no less excellent poem written by Helen Gray Cone: "The Little Maid of Spain." The number is rich in verse, as there are poems by Celia Thaxter, Edith M. Thomas, Anna M. Pratt, Mrs. Bumstead, Jack Bennett and others. The "Admiral's Caravan" is continued. Another excellent serial is Lieut. Fletcher's "Two Girls and a Boy," a successful attempt to write for young readers what is known as a "story of character." A long "short" story which girls especially will enjoy is Mary Davey's "The Pink Gown." Birch illustrates the story very appropriately. Eliza Ruhamah Scidmore, so favorably known as a writer on Japanese subjects, tells of "Two Queer Cousins of the Crab"—namely, the giant crab, familiar to readers of "Allen Quartermain," and the little mask crab that carries the impress of a human face upon its shell. Perhaps the most attractive article in the number is Mrs. Richards' account of the childhood of her sisters, her brother and herself, called "When I Was Your Age." One of the literary marvels of the day is the secret of the uniform excellence of St. Nicholas, both as to matter and style. Its authors, editors and artists are a great combination.

Among the literary treasures in the January Atlantic, is a paper on Boston, written by Ralph Waldo Emerson in the year 1861. Marion Crawford's serial story, Don Orsino, gives some delightful pictures of Rome, ancient and modern; Edith M. Thomas writes lovingly of Birds and Birds. Herbert D. Ward contributes a story: The Missing Interpreter. Poetry in the Atlantic is always poetry. Down by the Shore is December, by Thomas William Parsons, is thoughtful and musical. To quote one stanza:

O give me back my Wayland meads
Where Sudbury's loitering eddies glide,
And one long line of lilies leads
My skiff to Concord's harmless tide.

The Creed of the Old South, by Basil L. Gilderslieve, and the Greatest Need of College Girls, by Annie Payson Call, are other excellent contributions.

One of the most notable magazine articles of the holiday season is W. T. Stead's sketch of the czar and the Russia of to-day in the Review of Reviews. Mr. Stead is the only English speaking journalist who was ever accorded the privilege of an interview with the czar. A number of portraits are given. Besides these, the January number contains the portraits of more than fifty distinguished persons, among which are:

General Johnston and Governor Nicholls of Louisiana, Secretary Foster, Assistant Secretary Wharton, the late Dom Pedro, Fonseca of Brazil, Mr. Jackson the new Irish secretary, Mr. Redmond the Parnellite leader, Mr. Flavin of Cork, Archbishop Walsh of Dublin, Prince George of Wales, five governors of Australian states, the late Lord Lytton, the late Rev. Oscar McCulloch, the late William B. Florence, Governor Alvin P. Hovey, Senator Plumb, Hon. S. B. Elkins, Mr. Gillam of Judge, Mr. Elbridge Gerry of New York, Mr. Benjamin Waugh of London, Mark Twain, Frederic Harrison, Thomas Nelson Page, the late Mr. Velhagen the distinguished German editor, and Lord Rosebery, the rising liberal statesman of England.

Four Hoosier Holiday Stories worth reading are published in a neat little pamphlet by Geo. S. Cottman, Irvington, Indiana. "Sarah Jane Phipps Makes a Christmas" is full of pathetic touches, and the four stories all show fine descriptive powers and good command of language; a quotation, at random to prove it:

"And they drive off from the blaring, bustling scene, on through quieter streets between rows of pleasant cottage homes, with many a glimpse through broad windows of blazing grates and Christmas decorations; out into the open country with its dreary miles stretching away without end, and where the dull, leaden firmament hung lowering over a dead, desolate world from which all life and sound had fled—only the barren, sober-hued landscape, lying like a silent picture before the eye; flocks of crows flying noiseless to roost from their feeding grounds; a lonely farm house here and there sending up its thin columns of blue smoke to join the grey clouds—all in sharp contrast to that glowing, throbbing, brilliant scene of life which the girl had left behind."

"Hours with Nature," by the same author, suggests its contents in its name. Sympathetic and poetic and full of love for its subject the little book is Thoreau-like in its tender loving pictures true in every detail.

To be had of the publisher, Geo. S. Cottman, Irvington, Ind.; 35 and 25 cents respectively.

The Quiver begins with a paper on "Common Lodging Houses and Their Patrons," illustrated with drawings. The frontispiece illustrates a poem, "His Only Daughter," and shows a luxurious interior with a "spoiled darling" sitting at the feet of her doting papa. "The Heiress of Aberstone" increases in interest. "The First Work for God" is a characteristic paper. "Below the Sea Level" is an article that relates to Holland and its peculiar geographical formation. "A Gigantic Fraud" is a story of the incidents of three days. "The Revelations in the Whirlwind" is by the Rev. Hugh Macmillan, D.D. "Begin Where You Are" is a paper of good advice, and "With a Child's Eyes" is the story of a little boy who saw how a certain case of true love was not running smooth and how he made it all right. There are plenty of good stories in this number.

Cassell's Family Magazine for January opens with a serial story by L. T. Meade, called, Out of the Fashion. My New Drawing Room is a practical paper by a lady. The Woes of Mrs. Caractacus Brown is an amusing story. The Gift of the Bridegroom is a poem by J. R. Eastwood, which accompanies the frontispiece. Lucy C. Lillie contributes a story of New England life called, Cynthia's Tea-Man. "In Praise of the Early Bird" is the title of a paper of excellent advice. Some Animal Thieves is an illustrated paper intended for grown folks but which young people with healthy tastes will delight in. Another serial is begun in this number called "You'll Love Me Yet," which gives promise of being well worth reading.

Poet Lore has still another paper on Hamlet, by C. H. Burr; the Whitman-Shakespeare Question, by Johnathan Trumbull; Six Weeks with Chaucer, by Agnes M. Lothe; Browning's Study Hints, and a review of recent American poetry. Notes and News is a well edited department. Published in Philadelphia; $2 a year.

Notes.

Smith & Gray's holiday monthly is bright, neat and witty. Fifty cents a year.

The January number of the Church at Home and Abroad is notably excellent in its original papers.

W. D. Howells gives his novel "The Quality of Money" the title of "John Northwick, Defaulter," in England.

The Courier is a neat musical monthly, published in Cincinnati for $1 a year. It makes a specialty of Ohio notes of interest.

Mr. Clinton Scollard, who writes graceful verse, has received the appointment of professor of literature at Hamilton college.

The Ladies' Health Journal, published at Newark, Ohio, is well edited and richly worth the subscription price, $1 a year.

Annie Jenness-Miller's book: "Physical Beauty, how to obtain and how to preserve it," is published by the C. L. Webster Co., N. Y.

William Winters, according to the estimation of Wayne McVeagh, is the only man in American literature who will be remembered with Charles Lamb.

The current number of Wanamaker's Book News has 85 pages of criticisms and illustrations and 62 pages of book advertisements making it quite a voluminous guide for the reader and student.

The Baltimore Sun is one of the most valued newspapers on the Bee's exchange list. It is reasonable, conservative and able editorially and presents news in crisp, readable shape.

Add to your list of magazines for the year "Babyhood," published in New York and London (the Mother's Nursery Guide); and The Doll's Dressmaker, and Our Little Ones (Russell Publishing Co., Boston), for the babies themselves.

Mrs. Martha J. Lamb, of New York, editor of the Magazine of American History, holds membership in twenty-six societies of the learned sort, several of which are said to have admitted no other woman.

The Forum has been enlarged, both in the size of the page and in the number of pages; and the magazine is sewed with thread, instead of stitched with wire. It is now the largest and handsomest of the reviews.

Savelli's Exposition, a Russian story, by Henry Greville (Madame Alice Durand), is translated by Mary Neal Sherwood and published in cheap paper covers by T. B. Peterson & Bros., Philadelphia.

Jules Verne lives in a small cottage in the suburbs of Amiens. He believes that there is nothing more fit for the imagination of the poet than science. He says, "I live simply and comfortably, and would not live in Paris for anything in the world."

It will be interesting to the admirers of "Pierre Loti" to know that his real name is Julian Viaud, and the delightful love sketches he writes of the people of every land he visits are said to be founded on love affairs of his own. In order to be realistic, he courts the experience.

Thomas Bailey Aldrich is one of the daintiest poets of the English language. His two pages of "Interludes" in the current number of the Century are added proof. The "Sonnet on the Sonnet," by Inigo Deane, in the same number, is worthy of mention in the paragraph with the others.

Harper's Young People for January 5, being the first in 1892, may be called a "Columbus number." It consists of twenty-four pages and a specially designed cover, and contains, with a variety of other things, the story of Christopher Columbus in brief, told by Thomas A. Janvier.

The tenth number of the new Boston periodical with the somewhat boastful title of "Brains," opens with T. W. Higginson's "Glimpses of Authors," number four. Emerson Alcott, Thoreau and other transendentalists are the subjects of the paper, which is full of interest. The number is a newsy one and might almost be denominated a literary review.

An important literary feature of Harper's Magazine for 1892 will be the publication for the first time of six papers by Mr. James Russell Lowell on the Old English Dramatists. In this, his last literary work, Mr. Lowell returned to the love of his youth, his earliest studies having been in that field; and we shall have in these pages the results of his ripest thought on this subject.

William Dean Howells' connection with Harper Bros. ceased on January 1, and on that date he took charge of the Cosmopolitan Magazine conjointly with John Brisbane Walker. Mr. Howells will make his home in New York in future. The staff of the Cosmopolitan will be made up as follows: William Dean Howells and John Brisbane Walker, editors; Murat Halstead, review of current events; Edward Everett Hale, social problems; Brander Matthews, literary reviews; I. H. Hart, graduate of Cambridge; Joseph H. Sears, Harvard, and J. A. Adams, Cornell.

He Shrinks from Washing

So do woolens and flannels, if they're not washed properly. Try the right way. Get a package of Pearline, and do as directed. Your things won't shrink, and they'll be softer, brighter, and better, than ever before. That's the beauty of Pearline—washing is not only easier, but better and safer. Things that you wouldn't dare to trust to the wear and tear of the washboard are washed perfectly with Pearline. You save work, wear, time and money with it, but you can't do any harm.

Beware Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you, "this is as good as" or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled, if your grocer sends you an imitation, be honest—send it back. 813 JAMES PYLE, New York.

BIG BLUFF

Made by Judge Sala and Mayor Emmick

At the Police Board Meeting Last Night.

They Try to Crawl From Under the O'Dwyer Charges—The Matter Postponed by a Trick —More Inside Pointers.

The meeting of the police board last evening was the liveliest that has been held for some time. The charges against Chief O'Dwyer came up for a hearing, but Sala and the mayor showed plainly that they wanted to crawl out of the hole they are in, and finally by a trick they succeeded in having the hearing postponed until to-morrow evening. In so doing, however, the judge and the mayor were obliged to show their hand, and during the proceedings they made very laughable spectacles of themselves.

When the matter of the charges against the chief was brought up, Mr. Emmick came down from his high seat and had Mr. Stager take the chair.

Mr. Emmick then stated that Mr. Kruse was sick and could not be present. He thought that the full board should be on hand for the hearing of this case, and therefore he moved that it be postponed until Friday evening.

Mr. Potter—"I hardly think this matter should be put over. We all understood that it was to be heard to-night, the witnesses for Chief O'Dwyer are all present, and the other side has had plenty of time, I think the case should proceed at once."

There was no second to Mayor Emmick's motion to postpone, and on motion of Mr. Potter it was decided to proceed with the case.

Mr Emmick then returned to the chair, but pretended to feel very much hurt because the board had so snubbed Mr. Kruse. Very soon, however, his whole attention was taken in looking out for himself.

There was considerable confusion for a few minutes while Emmick and Sala got their heads together for a brief consultation and both seemed very much rattled.

The mayor then stated that none of the witnesses against the chief were present as he had supposed that the board would postpone consideration of the case.

He was given to understand that he was not the whole police board in himself, and Mr. Potter stated that they had had plenty of time to get ready and the witnesses should be on hand.

The mayor then stated that the court docket and journal were not on hand as they had been taken before the board of revision in the Tanner matter, and that board was not yet through with them, consequently they had been left in City Solicitor Read's office.

This statement was made, notwithstanding the fact that in the afternoon when the testimony in the Tanner investigation was concluded the board had told Mr. Tanner that they were through with the books, and he could take them back to the station.

Here little Judge Sala bounded into the ring and demanded that in justice to him the matter be postponed until the court records could be produced.

"These charges were made three weeks ago, said Mr. Stager," and you had a copy of the docket made, can't you produce that?"

At this Judge Sala became more excited. "No, sir," said he, "I want the books. A charge has been made in the newspapers that I changed the docket, and I want to show that it is false."

Mr. L. G. Richardson, attorney for Chief O'Dwyer, then requested that the board proceed with the investigation. "Such charges against the chief should be investigated at once, said he, "in justice to him and for the good of the force. These charges were made three weeks ago and he is ready for a hearing. He has his witnesses present and supposed that the case would go on to-night. He also notified Judge Sala that if he had any witnesses to subpoena they would be served at once. It is more a matter of justice to Chief O'Dwyer than one of accommodation to Mr. Kruse."

Mr. Emmick wanted to know if the chief could afford to proceed in this way with only one side to be presented.

"He can," said Mr. Richardson. "It is not his fault that the matter is not ready for hearing. He was ready to issue subpoenas for the other side, and besides, I have been informed that the board of revision was through with those books this afternoon."

Judge Sala again came in, and with an air of injured innocence asked that the matter not proceed without the books.

Then when some one suggested that as he was the complaining witness, he ought to be ready, the little judge became very red in the face and shouted "I want you to understand that I am not the complaining witness any more than the mayor or any other member of this board; I am a simple witness, but, we will show you," he threatened. "I was informed," continued the judge, "that this matter would be postponed and so none of our witnesses are present."

Mr. Richardson—"If you had a case in common pleas court, judge, and some irresponsible party informed you that the case would not be heard on the day set, would you leave your witnesses unsubpoenaed and come into court unprepared?"

At this the little judge became more excited than ever, and wildly jumping to his feet, exclaimed, "I—I—want you to understand that Mr. Emmick is not an irresponsible party, and he informed me that the matter would be postponed. We want to know what's what, and we propose to do so."

After a few more like remarks, mostly irrelevent, the mayor asked Mr. Richardson if he had never had a case continued.

"Yes, I have," said Mr. Richardson, 'lots of them, but I never prevented a case myself and let it go unprepared or neglected to have my witnesses present on the supposition that the case would be continued on my simple request."

'Who—who, issued these charges to this board?" demanded the judge, after considerable spluttering.

"I don't know," said Mr. Richardson.

"That's what we want to find out," remarked Commissioner Stager.

"Have you seen the mayor's papers?" said the judge.

"No," answered Mr. Richardson.

At this the judge sneered and seemed to think the matter settled.

As no papers whatever in this matter have come to light or been presented to the board, Judge Sala's remark implied that something was being held back and Mr. Richardson demanded to know if there were any other papers in the case besides those presented to the board at the last meeting.

"There are not," said the mayor.

After more lively debate between Judge Sala and Mr. Richardson, the judge demanded that his witnesses be subpoenaed at once, if the case was to proceed.

He then remarked: "I have no more interest in this case than Judge Millard."

The mayor and the judge then had a conference and made up their list of witnesses.

As the proceedings demanded by Judge Sala would take all night and the hour was already getting late, Mr. Stager moved that the matter be postponed until Friday, which was carried, and the board adjourned.

The little judge and the fat mayor had been obliged to show their hands, however, which consisted of a pair of knaves and the animosity behind the charges was plainly apparent.

Wouldn't Let Up.

When the board adjourned the mayor heaved a great sigh of relief, for the first round was over, but Judge Sala could not get over his excitement, and he immediately picked a quarrel with some of the reporters and appeared at very poor advantage.

All through the board meeting and in the hallway debates that followed, Mayor Emmick and Judge Sala each tried to lay the origin of the charges with the other, and each tried to crawl out from under.

One incident in the hallway down stairs, however, disclosed more of something under the surface, and would indicate that the mayor with his usual acrobatic act at playing both top and bottom, had played it on the judge.

In the hallway below Sala approached Witt Cochran, of the Commercial, and endeavored to "square" himself. "I am not the complaining witness in this case," said he. "I am no more interested in it than anybody else. The formal charges were preferred by the mayor."

"No charges from the mayor have as yet been presented," said Mr. Cochran.

"Yes, there were," said Sala. "I saw him write them with my own eyes. They were sent in, weren't they, Mr. Emmick?" turning to the mayor.

"The papers are all together," was Emmick's non-committal answer.

"Didn't you write the charges out yourself?" continued the judge.

Mayor Emmick—"The papers are all together."

Judge Sala—"And didn't you sign them with your own hand and in my presence?"

Mayor Emmick—"I said that the papers were all together; come on, let's go, judge."

This seemed to satisfy Sala and the two went out.

It is very evident that Judge Sala is laboring under some misapprehension, as he insisted so persistently last night that charges had been preferred by the mayor, and in his own hand writing, and signed by him.

The only communication from Mayor Emmick in the case is the following letter transmitting the papers to the board:

Toledo, O., Dec. 16.

To the Honorable Board of Police Commissioners:

Gentlemen—Having received the enclosed communication from Judges Millard and Sala charging Capt. O'Dwyer with disobeying the order of police court and disregarding the laws of the state and said department, I hereby submit this to you for investigation.

Very Truly Yours,
V. J. EMMICK.

This letter was not with the papers presented at the December meeting, nor was it presented to the board at all, but was introduced in a manner that has been characteristic of this case.

After the board had adjourned Mayor Emmick handed this letter to John J. Berney, clerk of the board, and requested him to place it with the other papers, but to say nothing about it, and the letter has never been read to the board. If this is the letter Judge Sala referred to, it can be seen that it contains no formal charges.

At the bottom of the letter, however, is a line following the other matter, reading as follows: "And order an investigation to be done."

This is written in ink and was erased with lead pencil by the mayor before he gave it to Clerk Berney.

Those Books.

During the board meeting Mayor Emmick and Judge Sala placed great stress on the importance of having the court journal and the docket, which they said were at City Solicitor Read's office, where the board of review was using them in the Tanner investigation.

"Those books have been in the hands of the board of review all day," said Mayor Emmick, "and nobody was told that we were through with them, for we are not. We have been using them all day and are not yet through with them and won't be until to-morrow noon."

The truth of the matter is that yesterday afternoon when the testimony was finished in the Tanner investigation, Mr. Read told Mr. Tanner in the presence of the board and several reporters, including a Bee, that the board was through with the journal and docket. Mr. Tanner then said that he would send after them.

This morning it was developed that when Mr. Tanner returned to the station yesterday afternoon he asked the chief to send an officer after the books. This was done and this officer returned the books to the clerk's office in the afternoon and they were received by Mr. Tanner.

Consequently at the time Mayor Emmick stated that the books were in Mr. Read's office, and the board of revision would not be through with them until noon to-day, both books were reposing safely in the police clerk's safe in the police station and they were not taken away from the station this morning.

LABOR TROUBLES IN SIGHT.

Amalgamated and Carnegie on the Outs.

The Workmen Will Demand the Increase Promised by the McKinley Bill Politicians.

Pittsburg, Pa., Jan. 7.—Affairs at Carnegie, Phipps & Co.'s Homestead steel works threaten to become serious.

The Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel Workers intend to demand a large increase over the scale of wages now in force.

The indications are that this will be refused and a struggle seems probable.

CHARGED WITH THEFT.

Farmer McDanel's Pork Barrel Was Robbed—Bryan Notes.

Bryan, Jan. 7.—(Special)—A stranger who has been camping in the woods a few miles east of Bryan, came to town Sunday to sell some meat, but the butcher refused to buy on that day, and the stranger said he would return on the following morning.

After the stranger had gone the butcher thinking something strange about the matter, informed the city marshal in regard to it. When the stranger arrived Monday morning, which was before daylight, the butcher made some excuse and went for the marshal, who arrested the stranger on suspicion of having stolen the meat.

Saturday night, Chas. McDanel, a gardener, living near where the stranger was in camp, missed from his pork barrel some 90 pounds of ham and shoulder, and an inspection of same was found to be the property of McDanel. A hearing was held Wednesday and the stranger was bound over to court.

The N. W. O. Horticultural society will hold a meeting at the residence of C. J. C. Boynton, near Pulaski, Saturday, January 16.

The annual meeting of farmers of Williams county is in session here to-day.

Frank McDanel was here from Owosso, Mich., a few days this week.

The Knights of Pythias of Bryan held a banquet in their hall last night for the benefit of their families and friends.

The week of prayer is being observed by the different churches of Bryan the present week.

MINISTER MONTT.

ALBERT KING'S CASE.

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 7—The case against Albert King for abduction of Banker Beal's child was dismissed in Justice Shannon's court yesterday.

King was at once held on a bench warrant issued by the criminal court which is an indication that an indictment has been found against him.

AMERICAN INVENTIONS IN INDIA.

Something of Interest to all Americans.

A Calcutta letter says that American inventions and discoveries are fast displacing the older ones of English manufacture in the Indian Empire. Thus, a few years ago, the American harvesters and reapers were entirely unknown, where now there are many. The American telephone has been introduced in most of the large cities. Stranger than all, the old-fashioned, huge pills are fast giving place to Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, or "P. P. P.," which were first introduced in London some years ago by their American proprietors. Every Englishman who enjoys good eating, must have his dinner-pill, and it is not unusual to see distinguished persons draw from their waistcoats a tiny little vial of these Pellets, and take one with their wine.

After taking one you feel well, instead of bilious and constipated; your sick headache, dizziness and indigestion are gone. It's done mildly and easily, too. These are tiny, sugar-coated, but thorough in results. One Pellet's laxative, three to four are cathartic. They regulate and cleanse the liver, stomach and bowels—quickly, but thoroughly. They are guaranteed to give satisfaction.

A BREWERY IN TROUBLE.

False Reports Made to the Government.

A Brew of Twenty-One Thousands Discovered That Had Never Been Entered for Tax.

San Francisco, Jan. 7.—Jackson brewery, this city, was seized yesterday by Internal Revenue Collector Quinn for brewing 21,000 barrels of beer more than the internal revenue books show.

The tax on a barrel about thirty gallons, is $1, so the brewery has defrauded the government of $21,000. The government will not only get $21,000, but a confiscation of the brewery plant will follow. This is estimated to be worth $500,000.

QUOTATION WAR.

The Gold and Stock Exchange Still Doing Business.

New York, Jan. 7.—In spite of the fact that the wires of the Gold and Stock company had been cut from the stock exchange the company's tickers were working this morning as usual.

At times their quotations were believed to be those of the stock quotation company, an organization formed by some of the members of the stock exchange, but the difference in time was small. The general manager of the Gold and Stock said his company would furnish quotations as usual to-day.

The House Asked to Look Into His Case.

Complaints of a Most Serious Nature.

Is Public Office a General Pawn Shop?

Democrats Getting Together in the House to Make a Raid on the Common Enemy—Washington Chat.

Washington, Jan. 7.—Mr. Cooper's resolution providing for the investigation of the pension office recites that Commissioner Raum has used his official influence in endeavoring to put upon the market stock of worthless corporations; that being insolvent he has secured the indorsement of his paper to thousands of dollars by a pension attorney, and has at the request of the attorney reversed a former ruling and made an order to the detriment of other attorneys and in favor of his indorser, and that his relatives have used their relationship to advance their own interests.

It recites further that promotions in his office have been made in open violation of the civil service law with a view to suppressing testimony exposing his administration. And that he has stationed spies, under government pay, at the doors of prominent newspaper offices in Washington to learn the source of their information.

The resolution provides for the appointment of a special committee of five to investigate and report to the house.

Postmaster General Wanamaker had an interview with C. P. Huntington and J. B. Houston, who have the contract for carrying the mails between San Francisco and China, in regard to increasing the size of the ships to be built for that trade. They proposed increasing the size of third and fourth class vessels as well as those of the first and second classes.

In an interview with the translator and interpreter, Mr. Ho Shen Chee of the Chinese legation this morning, bearing on the visit of the Chinese minister to the Martin Repeating Arms company's factory at New Haven, Conn., and giving a large order for rifles, which has a significance from the fact that China has been in a disturbed condition of late, Mr. Ho said that the purchase had no connection with the recent rebellion in his country as all disturbances there had been suppressed. The sale of the firearms, he said, was made in China several months ago by the agent of the company there, and the visit of the minister to the factory was made simply to inspect the rifles and see that the terms of the sale were adhered to by the company.

Representative Fitch, of New York, said to-day that the illness of Speaker Crisp, while unfortunate, gave the democrats of the house an opportunity to heal, to a certain extent, whatever sores may have been felt among members on account of the speakership contest.

The fact that the speaker personally was anxious to have Mr. McMillin chosen as temporary speaker was gratifying to all democrats, especially those who favored Mr. Mills, in the campaign; because the former, when the break came, announced himself in favor of the Texan.

Mr. Fitch is of the opinion that the selection of Mr. McMillin to fill the speaker's chair in the absence of Mr. Crisp will have a salutary effect upon all democrats and will result in harmonious action during the session.

In the senate Mr. Morrill made a speech yesterday in reply to Senator Stewart's speech on the silver question delivered December 17.

He said he was in favor of maintaining both gold and silver in circulation, and of silver to the extremist boundary that can be maintained on a parity with gold.

Few able lawyers, he said, would be found to agree with Senator Stewart in his views upon the silver statutes. Mr. Morrill proceeded in a very able argument to criticise Senator Stewart's views.

The secretary of the interior has sent a letter asking immediate consideration of the estimate of $1,000,000 for continuing the work of the eleventh census. Secretary Noble says the appropriation is made necessary on account of the small clerical force now at work. Of the entire appropriation made, amounting to more than $6,000,000 there is only a surplus of $114,562 remaining.

The acting secretary of the treasury has sent to congress a letter from Robert P. Porter, the superintendent of the census, accompanied by a deficiency estimate of $1,000,000 for continuing the work of the census, which appropriation, it is asked, be made in the urgency deficiency bill.

The letter of Superintendent Porter, which was dated December 29, 1891, says that the work of the census office is well advanced, and that if the appropriation asked for be made immediately it will be possible to bring the work practically to a termination by the close of 1892 or the spring of 1893.

There now remains available only $144,552, and about two hundred clerks have been furloughed. This forced reduction of the force, Mr. Porter says, is unfortunate and should not be continued a day longer than absolutely necessary. A temporary cessation of work would be disastrous, and even the furloughing of clerks for any length of time was injurious to the value of the work. The appropriations for the census thus far have aggregated $6,400,000.

DRUNKEN KENTUCKY MAYOR

May Have to Argue His Case with a Mob.

A Most Brutal Assault Made by the Man Who Should be Looked to for Protection.

Somerset, Ky., Jan. 7.—There is great excitement here over the alleged brutal conduct of Mayor Higgins, and threats are freely made of lynching him.

Miss Vina Woods, a young lady belonging to one of the most prominent families of Somerset, was a passenger on the train which reached here from Cincinnati shortly after midnight.

She had been on a visit to New York to be treated for a nervous disorder with which she had been afflicted for some time.

On alighting from the train the young lady found the depot was deserted. She entered the waiting room to stay until the omnibus should arrive.

Just as the train pulled out Mayor Barney Higgins came in, staggering drunk. He caught hold of Miss Woods and dragged her into a vacant house near by and fastened the door. The omnibus driver came up about this time and saw what was going on, and tried to force the door open. Not succeeding he started after assistance, but it was 7 o'clock before Miss Woods was rescued.

The mayor was arrested and the girl was removed to her home a raving maniac. To-day Higgins was in court, when a rumor was started that a mob was organizing to lynch him.

The magistrate adjourned court and Higgins was taken to jail. Whether Higins really outraged the girl or not has not yet been made public, as she is crazed from fright and exposure to the cold weather and delicate health generally.

Higgins has been mayor of this city for two years, and has conducted himself badly. He is about 50 years old and a married man with several children, some of whom are nearly grown.

LYNCHED THE WOMEN.

Terrible Tale From Womack Hill, Alabama.

Neal Sims and the Daughters of Bob Sims Strung Up to Trees by an Angry Mob.

Mobile, Ala., Jan. 7.—News from Womack Hill, Ala., the scene of the recent Sims outrages and hanging states that while Neal Sims, the brother of Bob, two other men, and Laura and Beatrice Sims, the two daughters of Bob Sims, were on their way from Womack Hill last night, going in the direction of Leak, Miss., the rendezvous of the rest of the gang, they were met by a posse searching for Neal Sims, who is wanted for murder.

It is said that Neal resisted arrest and was hanged and afterward shot; also that the rest of the party attempted to interfere in Neal's behalf and were strung up to an oak tree along the roadside, the woman being among the number lynched. Great excitement is said to prevail.

TOO YOUNG TO SIN,

Yet Arrested Charged with Burglary.

A Five-Year-Old and a Seven-Year-Old Break Into a Store and Steal Cigarettes.

Greenville, Mich., Jan. 7.—Two young children of Lafayette Fosgate, aged 5 and 7 years respectively, were arrested for breaking into the confectionary store of Lars Hansen yesterday while the proprietor was absent, and stealing a quantity of cigars, tobacco and cigarettes, which latter they were found smoking an hour later in an outhouse near the store.

The youngsters confessed that they had been for several months smoking cigarttes which they stole from various stores in town. The officers are in a quandary what to do with the children, as they are too young to send to a reform school.

TROUBLE TO FOLLOW.

Miners Hoot at the Stars an Stripes.

Anarchy Gaining Ground in Tennessee.

Another Outbreak with Much Destruction of Property is Looked for—Convicts Are the Sole Cause of the Difficulties.

Nashville, Tenn., Jan. 7.—The sentiment of anarchy is throughout the Coal Creek valley and another outbreak of looting and bloodshed is expected every moment. The following circular has been sent among the miners, rousing them:

"The convicts shall never gain a foothold here again. Our prayer must be blessings on our people and destruction to the convicts, the lessees and the state militia.

"We must act with prudence and give tit for tat, no matter what comes—death, destruction or anarchy.

"We mus t stand together. One hundred and sixty-seven men think they may intimidate us.

"Shall we endure?

"Never! The time to strike once more for our families and homes is almost at hand."

To-day a United States flag was put up, the troops cheered it, but a miner yelled in derision. "It won't stay there long. We'll shoot it down and you with it."

The miners come about the camps and watch the soldiers standing about in knots and examining their positions. The trouble is bound to come inside of a week and there will be bloodshed. Eugene Merrill, the leader of the miners, has issued a proclamation calling for a meeting tomorrow night, after that the outbreak is expected and the state troops are preparing for it.

Attention to the daily habits of the young prevents suffering. Take Simmons Liver Regulator.

BEAUTIFUL PEACE IN SIGHT

Chili Applauds the Government Action.

Celebration of the Inauguration of the Revolt Against the Reign of Balmaceda.

New York, Jan. 7.—The Herald's Valparaiso cable this morning says naval officials and civilans generally applaud the action of the administration instructing Minister Montt at Washington to withdraw the insulting letter of ex-Minister of Foreign Affairs Matta to him in reply to the references in Secretary Tracy's report, and President Harrison's message to the assault upon the seamen of the cruiser Baltimore.

Valparaiso, Santiago and Iqueque celebrated yesterday the inauguration of the revolt against Balmaceda. The festivities will be continued to-day. All business is suspended.

In the chamber of deputies yesterday a discussion took place relative to the abolition of Chilian ministeries in Europe. In the course of the debate Senor Julio Zagera protested empatically against abolishing the United States ministry. He said that it would be poor policy to do so now or in the future. It was Chili's desire, he added, to continue the most cordial relations with the grand republic of the western hemisphere.

Special Master's Sale

United States of America, Northern District of Ohio.

The Central Trust Company of New York Complainant, v. The Cincinnati, Jackson & Mackinaw Railroad Company and others, Defendants Consolidated Causes. In the Circuit courts of the United States for the Northern District of Ohio, Western division, and for the Southern district of Ohio, Western division, and for the Eastern district of Michigan, and for the Western district of Michigan, Southern division. In equity.

Notice is hereby given that in pursuance of a decree of the Circuit Court of the United States for the Northern district of Ohio, Western division, entered in the above entitled cause on June 5, 1891, and of a decree of the Circuit Court of the United States for the Southern district of Ohio, Western division, entered in the above entitled cause on July 1, 1891, and of a decree of the Circuit Court of the United States for the Eastern district of Michigan, entered in the above entitled cause on June 29, 1891, and of a decree of the Circuit Court of the United States for the Western district of Michigan, Southern division, entered in the above entitled cause on June 30, 1891, and of an order of said circuit court of the United States for the Northern District of Ohio dated December 23rd, 1891, and of orders of said other circuit courts adopting the same, we, Benjamin F. Wade and Hiram F. Carleton, the Special Masters designated, by said decrees, will sell without appraisement, at public auction, to the highest bidder or bidders, in the United States court room, in the City of Toledo, County of Lucas, and State of Ohio, at three o'clock, p. m. on the 8th day of January, 1892, the property covered by and embraced in the consolidated mortgage of the Cincinnati, Jackson & Mackinaw Railroad Company, dated December 1, 1886. Excluding the Central Division, being the property described in the first mortgage of the Cincinnati, Van Wert & Michigan Railroad Company, dated April 14, 1881), together with the proportion of equipment, material and supplies appertaining to the same which, upon the reference ordered in said decrees, shall be decreed by the court to properly belong to the same, and to be covered by said Consolidated Mortgage, said property (excluding the Central Division) will be sold as an entirety, without appraisement or redemption. No bid will be accepted therefor from any bidder for a sum less than $450,000, nor from any bidder who shall not, if requested by the Special Masters, place in their hands, or deposit with them, as a pledge that he will make good his bid, if accepted by the court, the sum of $25,000 in cash or Consolidated Mortgage Bonds to the amount of $250,000 of principal.

Of the price for which said property shall be sold, there shall be paid in cash, at the time of the sale, a sum equal to the amount of cash deposit hereinbefore required, and also, at the same time, and from time to time thereafter, such further portions of said purchase price as the court may direct; and the court reserves the right to reject any bid, and to take and to sell said premises and property, upon failure of any purchaser for twenty days to comply with any order of the court requiring payment. The balance of the purchase price not required to be paid in cash may either be paid in cash, or the purchaser may satisfy and make good said balance of his bid, in whole or in part, by paying over the outstanding Consolidated Mortgage Bonds, and overdue coupons, or either, at such price or value as shall be equivalent to the amount that the holders thereof would be entitled to receive thereon, in case the entire purchase price were paid in cash. If any bid shall be accepted by the court, and the person making the same shall fail to comply with all the conditions of sale and all orders of the court with respect thereto, the sum deposited by the bidder shall be forfeited, and shall be applied as the court may direct.

Reference is hereby made to the said decrees for a more specific description of the mortgaged property therein ordered to be sold, and for further particulars of the terms and conditions of sale.
